Kingston Board of Health to End Functions January 1 Under New County District Plan

Rescue Plane Ready for Search of Alps

Members of an Army rescue crew board a plane at Grenoble, France, to fly over the area where a C-53 transport with 11 Americans aboard was believed to have crash landed in the Swiss Alps. The crash scene was ultimately fixed at a point near Interlaken, Switzerland, and supplies were dropped. All 11 persons were believed alive. (Picture by radio from Paris).

Federal Ruling Is Basis for Dimout; All Stores Are Hit

Advertising Signs, City Street Lighting Are Affected: No Yule Displays

Mayor William F. Edelmuth announced this morning that Kingston, effective Monday at 6 p. m., would be under dimout regulations as prescribed by Civilian Production Administrator John D. Small, because of coal shortages.

Administrator Small's order, according to The Associated Press, affects 21 states, and the District of Columbia, including New York. Small said that effective Monday the order bans use of electricity for lighting store windows or advertising signs and for air conditioning and refrigeration except where essential.

Also required is a 25 per cent cut in electricity used for street lighting, buildings except homes, and for running passenger elevators and escalators. All Christmas lighting displays are out.

Further Restrictions

Small ordered even more drastic restrictions in electric utilities' services when their coal dwindles to a 15-day supply and a third stage of curtailment when coal stocks reach the 10-day stage.

At the same time C.P.A. ordered utilities furnishing manufactured and mixed gas to curtail deliveries when their stocks fall to a three-week supply. It directed the electric power companies to make the greatest possible use of water power and fuel other than coal and to pool power supplies with other utilities.

Greater Than Wartime

The Civilian Production Administration issued effective Monday a dimout order more far-reaching than those of wartime.

Administrator John D. Small said that because of greater industrial consumption now "the situation confronting the American people today is much more serious than that brought about by the coal strike last spring."

Small warned that fuel shortage restrictions on national economy and the people's comfort are, therefore, "just around the corner."

He added that electric utilities have an average 60-day coal supply, gas utilities "considerably less," and many in both categories already are low on fuel.

States Affected

The states effected by the dimout order are: Connecticut, Delaware, Illinois, Indiana, Iowa, Kentucky, Maryland, Massachusetts, Michigan, Minnesota, Missouri, New Hampshire, New Jersey, New York, Ohio, Pennsylvania, Rhode Island, Vermont, Virginia, West Virginia, and Wisconsin, plus the District of Columbia.

Small appealed to state governors and chairmen of state utility commissions for their help in enforcing conservation measures.

Phases to Be Taken Into Setup

Plumbing, Heat, Vital Statistics Will Be Under City; Ends Health Officer

O'Connor Is Named

Supervisors Name Doctor To Full Six-Year Term

Kingston's Board of Health will cease to function on January 1, when the newly organized county health unit, of which the city is a part, will take over the duties formerly exercised by the health board, according to information furnished by state and city officials who declined to be quoted.

According to the information furnished the county unit the first of the year will take over:

The public health nursing service of Kingston.

Sanitation inspections such as water, milk sewage and public eating establishments in the city.

Will Not Take Over

The county unit, however, will not take over plumbing inspection in the city. For years the city has had a plumbing inspector who is appointed by the city's plumbing board.

Edward Arnold is the present inspector, and undoubtedly he will retain that post next year.

Meat inspection—It is not expected that meat inspection in Kingston will be taken over by the county unit. Kingston is practically the only city of its size that for a number of years has engaged the services of a meat inspector who inspects all meat at the local slaughter houses.

Dr. Philip A. Poley, veterinarian, now holds the post of meat inspector, and it is expected that his services will be continued by the city.

Vital statistics of the city will also be kept by the city. Records of births and deaths have been compiled yearly since 1881. Miss Mildred Schwab is registrar of vital statistics of Kingston.

O'Connor Appointed

Dr. Francis E. O'Connor was appointed a member of the Ulster County Public Health District for a full six-year term by the Board of Supervisors Wednesday evening.

Dr. O'Connor's name was submitted by Mayor Edelmuth along with the names of James A. Dwyer and Francis O'Neill. Under the law the mayor of Kingston was charged with submitting three names from which the Board of Supervisors must appoint one member of the committee.

Other members of the county board of health are Dr. Robert F. Moseley of Kingston for a full six-year term, Dr. Eugene F. Galvin of Rosendale for five years, Fabian Russell of Saugerties for four years, the Rev. F. B. Seeley for three years, the Very Rev. Msgr. M. J. Drury for two years and Harry Kaplan for one year. Harry Snyder of the town of Marbletown was named as the member from the Board of Supervisors.

Under the law the county health board will elect its own officers and also select the health commissioner, who will be in charge of the county-wide health program.

No Health Officer

The post of health officer of the city now held by Dr. John F. Larkin will be abolished the first of the year.

It is expected, however, that the man to be appointed as county health commissioner will be assigned the services of several deputies in order to cover the entire county, and one of these deputies, if appointed, will undoubtedly be assigned to Kingston.

City Saves Health Budget

With the elimination of the Board of Health the first of the year no appropriation will be necessary to carry on the duties [illegible] during 1947, and the usual appropriation made the health board will not be included in next year's general city tax budget, according to a city official.

While the usual appropriation for the health department will not be included in the tax budget, it will be necessary to make some provisions in the budget to pay

Kingston May Be Air Stop On Eastern's Big Trunk Line

Franchise Is Sought Here For Proposed New Air Route Linking New York City With New England and Canada; C. of C. Vitally Interested

Eastern Air Lines, Inc., the major air line servicing the eastern half of the United States, is definitely interested in securing a franchise in Kingston on a proposed new air route between New York city, the New England states and Montreal and Quebec, Canada. Chamber of Commerce officials were informed today.

Eastern's proposal was included in a letter sent to the Kingston Chamber of Commerce by M. M. Frost, vice-president of Eastern Air Lines, Inc.

Roy Sutliff, chairman of Public Relations and secretary Don Williams, of the Chamber of Commerce, in a joint statement said negotiations between the Chamber's Airport Committee and Eastern have been in progress for some time.

Prepares Data

The Eastern vice-president said his company is now preparing the economic and other data in support of its application to serve Kingston on the proposed route between New York, Montreal, and Quebec, via Poughkeepsie-Troy-Schenectady-Lake Placid Saranac Lake-New York; and Rutland-Montpelier-Barre and Burlington, Vermont.

Referring to a map which accompanied Eastern's letter on the proposed route, Mr. Frost said:

"You will note that if Eastern is authorized to serve your city you will be on a trunk-line all the way from Quebec and Montreal through to Mexico City and likewise to Miami and Puerto, and we hope very soon to Cuba and the Canal Zone.

Important Chain

"In other words," Mr. Frost continued, "you would be connected not only with New York city and Washington but with some 65 other important centers

Klothe Opens 1946 Yule Seals Sales

One of City's Lamplighters Relives His Work in Uptown Ceremony

The 1946 Christmas Seal Sale opened Friday evening with one of Kingston's former lamplighters, Edward C. Klothe, switching on the light symbolizing the opening of the Seal sale. The ceremony took place at the head of Wall street where a large double-barred cross had been erected on the Ostrander building on North Front street and facing down Wall street.

At 7:30 o'clock, Mr. Klothe attired in an old time costume and wearing a huge red muffler, climbed his stepladder and "lighted" the lamp atop the police signal box there. The ceremony was witnessed by a considerable crowd of people and there was a brief program in which Edmund P. Rochford, chairman of the Christmas Seal campaign, Dr. Frederic W. Holcomb and Harry S. Ensign, president of the Ulster County Tuberculosis and Health Association, took part.

At the ceremony the program was sent out over a loudspeaker for the benefit of the crowd which witnessed the ceremony. As Mr. Klothe "lighted" the lamp the "Lamplighter" song was played.

Carol Elizabeth Connors, granddaughter of Mr. Ensign, sold the first seal to Lamplighter Klothe and the 1946 Christmas Seal Sale was officially under way.

The large double-barred cross on the Ostrander building is illuminated from a spotlight which has been erected on the Bernstein building across the street.

Former Judge Dies

New York, Nov. 23 (AP)—Willard A. Glen, 82, former judge of the Syracuse Juvenile Court and a lawyer for 50 years in Syracuse, died yesterday. He lived for the past three and a half years at the home of a daughter, Mrs. Charles Dash, Jr., here. He was a native of Clyde, N. Y.

First Chinese Constitution Is Ready for Consideration

Nanking, Nov. 23 (AP)—China's first republican constitution—combining many features of the United States' own supreme law with China's old system of councils—is ready for consideration of the national assembly Monday.

Under its provisions, supreme executive authority would be vested in the president elected for six years with the right to a single re-election. The supreme representative body would be the national assembly, which would elect the president and vice president, recall them if it deems necessary, and amend the national constitution.

The preamble contains phrases familiar to Americans: Government of the people, by the people and for the people; equality of all races, and freedom of thought and religion. It would give Chinese four freedoms — movement and communication, religious belief, assembly, and speech and publication. Personal liberties are guaranteed under 12 sections.

Delegates to the national assembly would be elected for six year terms. The legislative council, the nation's lawmaking body, would be elected for three year terms.

The president would be commander in chief of all armed forces and have powers to conclude treaties, declare war and establish peace.

The provincial governments would be empowered to make their own laws, providing they did not conflict with the national laws, and to elect their own governors. Governors now are appointed by the head of the national government.

China would retain its five-council system: Executive, legislative, examination, judicial and control. Membership in the law-making legislative council would include delegates from each province and municipality; eight each from Mongolia and Tibet, and 16 from overseas China.

Eisenhower Enters 'Most Exciting' Competition

Boston, Nov. 23 (AP)—Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower is flattered to learn that he is an "exciting" man.

The Spinsters Club—a group of 25 attractive co-eds of the Kathleen Dell School, last week voted the genial general "the most exciting man of 1946" in competition with Frank Sinatra, no less.

Today the girls received from Gen. Eisenhower's aide, Maj. C. Craig Cannon, this message:

"Gen. Eisenhower is flattered indeed to learn that your club regards him so highly."

May Get New House

New York, Nov. 23 (AP) — The Metropolitan Opera Company may get a new home soon. This was disclosed yesterday by Charles M. Spofford, president of the Metropolitan Opera Association, who said the organization was considering building a new house to replace the present 63-year-old structure at Broadway and 40th street.

2,000 Leave for Orient

San Diego, Calif., Nov. 23 (AP)—The navy transport Gen. William Mitchell departed yesterday with 2,000 passengers, including wives and children of service personnel, for Pearl Harbor and Guam. Passengers destined to Asiatic stations will transfer at Guam to other ships.

Rafalowsky Names Stars for Ahavath Ball November 27

Alvino Rey's Orchestra to Play; Stars Will Entertain on Show at Auditorium

The program for Ahavath Israel Thanksgiving Eve ball, Wednesday night, November 27, in the municipal auditorium has been announced by H. G. Rafalowsky, general chairman, who advised a reporter that in arranging this year's show he aimed at surpassing any ever presented by the congregation.

"A glance at our array of entertainers will prove I'm right in saying we have some of the outstanding artists of the entertainment world," he remarked. "In arranging the bill I worked for balance, something that would please all the patrons—good music, singing, dancing, comedy."

Doors Open at 7 p. m.

Doors of the auditorium will open at 7 p. m. Alvino Rey's orchestra, of radio and moving picture fame will play the overture at 8:30, featuring the Airliners with Jimmy Joyce; Jo Anne Ryan, soloist, Luise King, harpist; Rocky Coluccio at the piano, and Alvino Rey with his talking guitar.

Chairman Rafalowsky and Mayor William F. Edelmuth will make addresses of welcome, and after [illegible] Banner, the show will start.

Acts procured through the Harry Moss agency in New York will go on as follows:

Array of Stars

Archie Robbins, master of ceremonies direct from the Roxy Theatre, New York city.

Cooper and Clifton, two unique concert artists.

Gene Marvey, featured soloist with "Evening with Romberg"

Louis and Ames, in "We Know a Thing or Two."

Cordano and Corinne, internationally known dance team, booked for two years in Europe.

Archie Robbins, Broadway's newest comedy entertainer.

Diane Courtney, radio singing star of the Milton Berle and Texaco Star radio shows.

Four Conreros, recently at the Strand Theatre and Zanzibar in New York city.

Stock Companies Increase

Albany, N. Y., Nov. 23 (AP)—Stock companies chartered by the state in September totaled 2,579 compared with 1,471 in the same month last year, an increase of 75 per cent. The new incorporations numbered 2,189 in New York city and 399 upstate, Secretary of State Thomas J. Curran reported yesterday. Charters for 600 real estate concerns made up the largest single group. Capitalization for 812 of the new enterprises totaled $42,117,320. Shares of no par value were issued by the remaining 1,767 new organizations.

Taber Prepares Big Spending Reduction

Washington, Nov. 23 (AP)—Rep. Taber (R-NY), who will be the next chairman of the House appropriations committee, raised his sights today to a $12,000,000,000 reduction in government spending next year.

This is $3,000,000,000 more than Taber estimated last week, when he declared Federal employment should be cut 1,000,000 and expenditures $9,000,000,000 below the current $41,000,000,000.

After checking his figures, Taber told newsmen yesterday he has decided the government can get by on $29,141,000,000.

This, he said, would permit paying off $3,000,000,000 of the national debt and still leave a margin for slashing individual income taxes.

Patrolmen Meet With Police Board

New Duties Are Outlined by Chief Boss; Will Attend School

Kingston's eight new patrolmen who will assume their duties as members of the police department on January 1, met with the Board of Police Commissioners Friday evening at the city hall when their new duties were outlined to them by Chief of Police Ernest A. Boss.

A representative of a uniform concern was present at the meeting and measured the men for their new uniforms.

Chief Boss called the men's attention to the police school that will be held December 16, and

City Won't Lose Any Train Service Due to Coal Strike

Some Trains Will Be Slowed Because of Absorption of Commutation

Although the New York Central System will remove 165 passenger trains from its lines Sunday at 11:59 p. m. to conserve fuel in face of the nationwide coal strike scheduled for Monday, Kingston will not lose any of its service.

However, it was announced by the local office of the System today that service on some trains would be slowed up due to their absorbing schedules of those removed from the Haverstraw-Weehawken commuter run.

In eliminating the 165 trains, the New York Central System will be cut approximately 27,000 passenger train miles daily, it was revealed by the Central's office in New York. Removal of the trains is in compliance with Order 68 issued by the Office of Defense Transportation, Washington, D. C., November 18.

Kingston Timetable

Trains leaving Kingston will continue at the same hours, but some of them will arrive subject to delay in Weehawken. Here is the schedule:

Daily, except Sunday and Monday at 2:30 a. m. arrives in Weehawken at 4:55 a. m.

Daily, except Sunday, 6:30 a. m. will arrive in Weehawken at 9:10, instead of 9 o'clock.

Daily at 8:12 a. m., except Sunday, arrives at Weehawken at 11:05 a. m. as usual.

Sunday only, 8:23 a. m., arrives

President Will Tackle Coal Problem; Leaves Florida

By ERNEST B. VACCARO

Key West, Fla., Nov. 23 (AP)—President Truman took off today from the Boca Chica airport, eight miles from here, on a flight to Washington, the scene of his administration's struggle to terminate the economy-strangling coal strike.

The Presidential plane, commonly referred to as "The Sacred Cow" is due in Washington about 2:30 p. m. (E.S.T.).

He has been the guest of Rear Admiral C. W. Styer, coordinator of submarine and anti-submarine warfare and the commandant of this submarine base, Capt. Willard Saunders.

White House advisors wouldn't talk about the coal crisis. Presidential Secretary Charles G. Ross told of telephone calls yesterday with Attorney General Tom Clark and Interior Secretary J. A. Krug, the government operator of the coal mines, immediately after Mr. Truman returned from an all-day deep sea fishing trip 68 miles from here.

The President pulled in four fish as against 23 by Judge Collet, one of his closest friends from Jackson county, Missouri, while fishing near the dry Tortugas islands.

Ross was non-committal about President Truman's immediate plans, if any, for a press conference, or whether he will call in his cabinet in advance of the usual Friday session.

the salaries of those retained to have charge of the services that will not be taken over by the county unit, it was pointed out by the city official.

To Test Water, Milk

Unofficially it is understood that a new chemist will be added to the staff of the city laboratory, whose duties it will be to make daily tests of the city's water, and also the milk sold in the city. Also included in his duties will be daily tests at the city's new sewage disposal plant, whenever it is completed and placed in operation.

Nothing Definite Yet

Nothing definite has been determined as to how many of the present staff of paid officers of the Board of Health will be retained to continue their duties in Kingston under the new county health unit setup.

It is expected that these and other questions that will undoubtedly arise, will be decided by the members of the county board before the first of the year.

The school will be in charge of Chief Boss who will be assisted by Acting Captain Raymond Van Buren and Lieut. William T. Roedell. A representative of the F.B.I. is also expected to give the new men pistol instruction and a course in ju-jitsu.

Chief Boss said today that he planned to have County Judge John M. Cashin and District Attorney Louis G. Bruhn speak at some of the school sessions.

The eight new men, who were appointed at a special meeting of the police board on November 16, are: Ernest C. Bartroff, Leonard Ellsworth, Walter Van Steenburg, Michael Marchuk, Guernsey Burger, Jr., Kenneth L. Stratton, Ralph Seism and Carl Janasiewicz.

Utica A. A. Member Held for Manslaughter

Utica, N. Y., Nov. 23 (AP)—A socially prominent member of Alcoholics Anonymous has pleaded innocent to a charge of involuntary manslaughter in the shotgun death of a fellow member who reportedly attempted to prevail upon him to stop drinking.

Andrew Sharpe Hunter, III, 36, owner of a salad dressing manufacturing concern and son of a former department store operator, entered the plea in Oneida county court yesterday.

A second degree manslaughter indictment charged that Hunter "in a gross and wanton and culpably negligent manner, but without design to cause death," permitted a loaded shotgun to be pointed at Murray Curtin, 48, a [illegible].

Curtin was wounded in the Hunter home August 20 and died two days later.

Mrs. Hunter testified at the inquest that her husband, after months of abstinence, had been drinking heavily for several days and that she had asked Curtin to try to persuade him to stop.

She said the shotgun went off [illegible] between [illegible] were described by Coroner Preston R. Clark as members of Alcoholics Anonymous.

Rescuers Reach Wrecked Airplane In Glacial Bowl

All Eleven Are Reported Alive High in Swiss Alps Close to Interlaken

Meiringen, Switzerland, Nov. 23 (AP)—Ploughing through glacial snowdrifts, two members of a ground rescue squad reached the wrecked C-53 plane in the Swiss Alps today. This was announced by Brig. Gen. Ralph Snavely, directing rescue operations for the U. S. Army.

The C-53, with 11 Americans aboard, crash-landed Tuesday in a glacial bowl 8,000 feet above sea level, near Strahlegg Peak, 13 miles southeast of Interlaken and just northeast of the mighty Jungfrau.

(U. S. Army headquarters at Frankfurt said all 11 were alive).

Brig. Gen. Ralph Tate said he talked by radio with his son, Ralph Tate, Jr., pilot of the C-53, who told him all 11 persons had survived their four-day ordeal. The captain said eight were either sick or injured.

Silhouetted against the snow, the rescue party looked like a huge snake as it crept slowly ahead over the snow-clad glacier. Newly fallen snow hid many crevasses and the mountaineers, roped together, ventured forward at the peril of their lives.

The lead man in the party had to work his way forward at times by crawling on his belly while his companions dug in to hold him in case the snow should give way beneath him. When the lead Alpinist reached the end of the rope, he in turn dug in to hold while the second member of the party followed with equal caution. The operation was repeated until the entire group had been pulled forward another few yards.

German Reds Take New Method in Fight for Backing

Stuttgart, Nov. 23 (AP)—American military observers said today the German Communist Party, faced with strong opposition from the Conservative voters of western Germany, on the eve of constitutional assembly elections, has adopted a new tack in its fight for votes—a "very respectable" approach to economic matters.

The party's new strategy, these observers said, is to go to great pains to convince Conservatives that its policies are in no way dictated by Moscow. In line with this new tactic, party speakers are emphasizing the fact that Soviet foreign utterances do not mean a [illegible] to the party in the American zone.

The political experts say, however, this new propaganda approach has little hope of gaining more votes for the party in the American zone.

Since the war the Communist Party has gained a small number of youthful converts, but, American observers say, by and large the party's position in the U. S. zone has been weakened by the return of German prisoners of war from Russian internment camps and the influx of millions of expellees from Czechoslovakia and other eastern areas.

Balloting on adoption of proposed state constitutions and election of state legislatures will take place tomorrow in Wuerttemberg-Baden and on December 1 in Bavaria and Greater Hesse.

Dimitro Announces His New Bulgarian Cabinet

Sofia, Bulgaria, Nov. 23 (AP)—Communist Leader Georgi Dimitro, former secretary general of the Communist International and one-time Russian citizen, today headed a new government of the Bulgarian fatherland front, winner of a recent election.

His cabinet, announced last night to replace that led by Kimon Georgiev of the Zveno National Union consists of 10 Communists, five government Argarians, two Socialists, two Zvena party members and one Independent.

Radio Performers' Strike Postponed Pending Parleys

New York, Nov. 23 (AP) A strike of radio performers set for midnight tomorrow if a new contract was not signed before then was postponed early today by leaders of the American Federation of Radio Artists pending outcome of further negotiations with the four major networks.

The strike, which would remove from the air such features as Jack Benny, Fred Allen, Edgar Bergen and Charlie McCarthy, was voted previously by A.F.R.A. members in New York, Chicago, Los Angeles and San Francisco.

But leaders of the union and the networks—the National Broadcasting Company, the Columbia Broadcasting System, the Mutual Broadcasting System and the American Broadcasting Company—decided to resume talks tomorrow and to announce a definite decision Monday on terms of a contract which is to replace one which expired October 31.

A.F.R.A. representatives said they had received certain proposals from the networks but did not disclose them. They said the definite answer [illegible] will be given Monday at a meeting at offices of N.B.C.

Chief issue is the A.F.R.A. demand that the networks refrain from supplying programs to local independent affiliated stations which have not signed a contract with the federation.

Dutchess Takes Over Airport at New Hackensack

Possession Under an Interim Permit Pending the Final Grant

Dutchess county has taken possession of the $2,500,000 New Hackensack airport under an interim permit, pending a final grant from the War Assets Administration, Albert Richard, chairman of the Dutchess County Airport Commission, made known Friday.

The Civil Aeronautics authority, Mr. Richard said, is making a final report to the War Assets Administration recommending that the field be turned over to Dutchess county as a grant, and he predicted that a final grant would be made within 30 to 60 days.

The air field will be given to the county as a grant under the provisions of Section 303 of the Civil Aeronautics act of 1933, Mr. Richard said. He pointed out that the agreement had been ratified by the Dutchess county board of Supervisors.

The commission chairman said the field would be kept closed for the present "as a safety measure," until such time as the county can procure proper personnel and equipment to operate it.

Pitchfork, Shovel Are on Way Out

Farm Experts Say These Tools Soon Extinct

By LAWRENCE N. ELDRED
A.P. Newsfeatures

Chicago—Almost lost in news of more world-shaking events during the war years was the decline and fall of the time-honored scoop shovel and pitchfork on American farms.

They're still holding on by grace of shortages in power loading and unloading machinery, but many farm experts are agreed these hand tools soon may be as nearly extinct as the whooping crane.

The earliest written record of scoop shovels appeared in a book on farming published in England in 1844. A farm adviser of the time suggested a wood scoop shovel was a handy thing to have around a grain bin. The scoops later were made of metal for greater durability when use of the tool spread to the United States.

Shovel production last year hit one of the highest levels in history, but wholesale hardware dealers say that was mostly a result of "catching up" with the lower production during the war.

Takes a Lot of Them

In 1935 fewer than 5,000,000 shovels and spades were turned out, but in 1944 this number more than doubled to better than 11,000,000 and last year it went above 11,640,000, a U. S. census of manufacturers reported.

But now as fast as farm machinery can fill the demand, use of the old callous-makers is expected to fall away rapidly.

New machines like the hydraulic tractor-operated grain loader, one-man self-propelled grain combines and hay balers, and hydraulic dump trucks are sounding the knell for the scoops and forks.

Mostly the cause of the change is to be found in farm economics, however, rather than in any disinclination for backbreaking work on the part of the nation's farmers.

Shovels Make Bottlenecks

A harvesting rig may cost a farmer $2,500 and a scoop shovel $2.50, but he doesn't see much sense in letting expensive equipment stand idle while he shovels grain by hand. Neither does he want the shovel to create a bottleneck in the speedy grain movement made possible by machines.

He applies the same logic to his haying activities.

Another factor is that hired hands who used to do most of the shoveling and pitching are costing more than ever before. Average farm wages bounded from $27.39 a month including board in 1929 to $74.60 last year.

Just as tractors and automobiles pushed out the less economical horse, power equipment is pushing out hired hands and hand tools, the experts say.

Mechanized Farming

So U. S. census figures show production of pick-up hay balers, sweep rakes, stacker-loaders, harvester-thresher combinations, and farm elevators continued to increase in spite of the war.

For example, sweep rakes went up from 5,241 units manufactured in 1935 to 12,106 in 1944 and 17,6[illegible] last year. Combines [illegible] from 3,872 units produced in 1935 to 44,704 in 1944 and 51,118 last year.

This year's production has not been estimated, but farm advisers contend mechanization will continue as rapidly as machine makers can settle [illegible] problems and go into full-scale production.

The number of combines on farms this year is [illegible] it is estimated.

Some 75 per cent of the nation's wheat [illegible] per cent of [illegible] harvested by [illegible] and only 15 per [illegible] were harvested [illegible] way.

Incidents Brought Up by U.S. Coal Situation in Nation

Wilkes-Barre, Pa., Nov. 23 (AP)—Anthracite miners were returning to the collieries today in increasing numbers following a walkout of approximately 10,000 hard coal mine workers in sympathy with striking soft coal miners.

Members of the Loomis Local voted to return but telegraphed U.M.W. Chief John L. Lewis, in the event he is jailed, to "make room in the prison for 700 workers."

Several union officials predicted all collieries would be manned by Monday.

Concerned About Mules

Albany, N. Y., Nov. 23 (AP)—The American Humane Association has appealed to Secretary of Interior Krug to take "every possible" precaution against neglect of mules made idle by coal mine shutdown.

In a telegram from association headquarters here last night, President Robert F. Sellar asked Krug to "issue a directive to insure care" of the mules that haul the coal carts and "to take every possible precaution against serious neglect."

School Via Radio

Denver, Nov. 23 (AP)—It was the same old story for Denver kids today: No classes at public schools. But this time they'll get their home work assigned by remote control.

School officials took a look at their coal bins yesterday, decided there wasn't enough to heat the 76 buildings, and came up with the now-familiar announcement: "Classes suspended."

It was the third time it had happened this year. First it was the polio epidemic last September, then a blizzard two weeks ago.

This time, however, they aren't going to get off so easy. School officials plan to broadcast lessons and assignments over Denver radio stations.

Wants Dome Lit

Washington, Nov. 23 (AP)—Dim-out of the Capitol dome in the fuel-saving emergency was criticized as "unjustified and unprecedented" today by Hugh Russell Fraser, chairman of the Committee on American History.

"President Lincoln regarded the Capitol as a symbol of continuity of the United States," Fraser said. "Even during the dangers and restrictions of the Civil War, he would not permit construction work on the Capitol to be suspended, delayed or in any way halted.

"And now we darken it for John L. Lewis.

"As long as there is a ton of coal left in the United States, the dome of the nation's Capitol should remain lit.

Besides the dome, floodlights were also dimmed on the Lincoln and Jefferson memorials and blacked-out entirely on the Washington monument.

in the eastern and southern part of the United States and in Latin America, all of which are now within the system of Eastern Air Lines."

"It is a pleasure to advise you," Mr. Frost wrote, "that the Civil Aeronautics Board last week held a pre-hearing conference on the application of Eastern Air Lines, Inc. seeking authorization to serve your community on a proposed new air route between New York and the New England states and Montreal and Quebec."

Hearing Schedule

Mr. Frost said the hearing examiner has announced that the applications will be consolidated for a hearing which probably will take place in Washington in January or February of the coming year.

Cooperation Offered

"We would very much like to cooperate with your Chamber of Commerce and your city government in their preparation of the economic and other data which should be filed within the next few weeks in order to prove a need and justification for our service into and through your city," Mr. Frost said. The airline executive indicated that a deadline date for assembling such data will be set in a few days.

The Eastern official said his company regarded the proposed new air route as of real importance in the proper expansion of the system [illegible] they are very anxious to have the city of Kingston included in the system.

Mr. Sutliff and Secretary Don Williams have pledged Mr. Frost the complete cooperation of the Chamber of Commerce's facilities. Mr. Williams said that considerable data on aerial prospects for Kingston already have been assembled for the New York State Department of Commerce by a [illegible] consultant firm and [illegible] would be available [illegible] at the [illegible] for Eastern Air Lines.

MEMORIAM

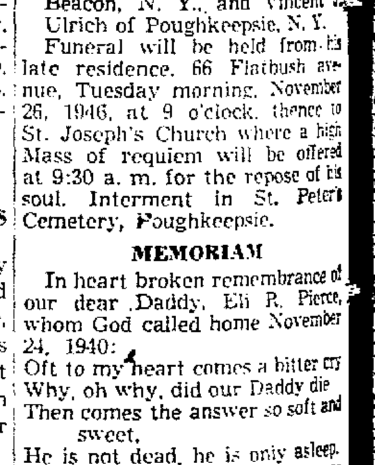

In heart broken remembrance of our dear Daddy, Eli R. Pierce, whom God called home November 24, 1940:

Oft to my heart comes a bitter cry
Why, oh why, did our Daddy die
Then comes the answer so soft and sweet,
He is not dead, he is only asleep.
There is no death, the stars go down
To rise upon some fairer shore,
And bright in Heaven's jeweled crown
Our Daddy shines forever more

Signed,
Daughter and Son-in-law,

Good Taste Today

By Emily Post

(Author of "Etiquette," "Children Are People," etc.)

PUSHER MUST BE SMALL AND DRY

The propriety of using a "pusher" is a question of using it nicely. This partially answers the following: "I have seen lately in restaurants certain people who seem to have pleasing table manners, use a small piece of bread to push food on to their fork. This was new to me, but because of the type of people doing it, I thought it was correct. Will you tell me?"

Small piece of crust is absolutely correct. It is not correct to use a big soft piece of bread or to keep pushing a little piece until it is soggy. But when this happens, you can push it further under the gravy or sauce with your fork. If you don't want to eat it, leave it where it is and take a fresh piece of crust for your pusher.

Writing to a Strange Boy

Dear Mrs. Post: A boy friend of mine has asked me to write to a boy-friend of his whom I do not know. I do not think it proper that I write first, and told him I am perfectly willing to answer the boy's letters but that he should write me first. Was I right?

Answer: Yes, unless the boy was convalescing in a hospital or supposedly lonesome in a far-away place. In that case you might write and explain that Jimmy Brown had asked you to write.

Table Manners

Dear Mrs. Post: (1) Where should I place my napkin when I am called away from the table to the telephone? (2) Where should the napkin be placed at the end of the meal? (3) When soup has been served in a bowl that is on a plate, should the spoon be left in the bowl or at the side on the plate?

Answers: (1) On your chair is better than at the side of your plate because your plate might be changed while you are gone. (2) Fold it rather like an umbrellas and lay it at the left of your plate. (3) On the plate. Unless the rim of the plate is so narrow that the spoon is likely to fall off when the plate is removed.

After cutting meat, should the fork be transferred to the other hand? Send for the leaflet, "Zig-zag Eating," obtainable for a 3-cent stamped, self-addressed envelope to Mrs. Post in care of The Kingston Freeman, P. O. Box 99, Station G, New York 19, N. Y.

Candlelight Ceremony

At a joint meeting of Tri-hi and So-Hi Monday the two groups discussed plans for the candle light ceremony scheduled for Monday, December 2, at 8 p. m. Marie Aiello presided at the business meeting of Tri-Hi in the absence of Betty Bryant, president. The clubs decided to invite their mothers and guests to the ceremony, and to serve refreshments afterwards. The hospitality committee to work with Mrs. Lee Ferry of the committee for Teen-Age program is composed of the following girls: Tri-Hi: Barbara Whelan, chairman, Joan Lantry, and Kathleen Donovan; So-Hi: Dorothea Wilson, Sandra Silk, and Joan Day. Those who will be in charge of sending invitations to Y-Teen Mothers are Tri-Hi: Jacqueline Christiana, chairman; Dorothy DeCicco, Mildred Palmer; So-Hi, Patricia Tesoro and Jeanine Snyder. A rehearsal of officers and group captains will be held Monday night, at 8 p. m. in the club room.

Joan McKinnon reported on the findings of her committee concerning the Tri-Hi sweaters. Following the business meeting Gloria Levine explained the story of the musical, "Carousel," and then played some of its recordings.

Teen-Age Committee

The committee for Teen-Age program met Monday afternoon at the Y.W.C.A. with Mrs. R. P. Salisbury, chairman, in charge. Plans were made to assist with the reception for Mothers following the Y-Teen ceremony.

A report from the New York area round table for directors of teen-age program was made by Mrs. Salisbury and Miss Audria E. Stinger.

Those attending the meeting were Mrs. Salisbury, Mrs. Virginia Norwood, Mrs. Ferry, Miss Alberta Davis, Miss Ethel Roberts, and Miss Stinger.

Live Y'ers

Tuesday afternoon members of the Live Y'ers met with Mrs. Hugh Elwyn who talked to them about care of the hands and manicures. After the discussion the girls were led in group singing by Miss Stinger.

Interclub Council

The Interclub Council, composed of the presidents and a representative of each Y-Teen club, will hold its regular meeting in the form of a covered dish supper, Monday, at 5:15 p. m. Janet Rose and Mary Howard are in charge of the dinner. Betty Bryant will preside at the business meeting.

Ahavath Ball Feature

One of the most sensational acts on the program for Ahavath Israel Thanksgiving eve ball, according to H. G. Rafalowsky, general chairman of the November 27 event in the municipal auditorium, is the Four Congeroos. This acrobatic dance team has been featured in some of the leading theatres and night clubs of the country, recently at the Strand in New York and the Zanzibar. The Congeroos have been presented in conjunction with Lionel Hampton's band and Cab Calloway's. Music for Ahavath Israel ball Wednesday will be by Alvino Rey's famous radio band.

Australian Born Aletha Delavan Celebrates First Birthday Here

Aletha Aileen Delavan celebrated her first birthday in America Thursday at the home of her grandmother, Mrs. Laura Delavan, 251 Abeel street. She is the daughter of Sgt. and Mrs. Raymond Delavan. She received many gifts including a birthday cake mounted with a single candle. A family party was held in her honor.

Mrs. Delavan and her daughter arrived aboard the "Mariposa" at San Francisco in June and at their home here June 18. Sergeant Delavan who during the war served in Australia and the Pacific area, is now stationed at Tucson, Ariz.

Meeting Marbletown Legion Auxiliary

High Falls, Nov. 23—The American Legion Auxiliary of the Town of Marbletown Post met in the reception room of Rock Cliff Hotel, High Falls, Thursday evening, with the president, Mrs. Isaac Graham, in charge and 12 members present. Reports of the last county meeting were given and it was announced that the next county meeting would be at Ellenville evening of November 26.

Rehabilitation work was discussed in detail and Mrs. Ernest Jansen was appointed chairman of this committee. She asks all members and friends of veterans to donate a gift suitable for a hospitalized veteran to send as a Christmas present to any member of his immediate family. Gifts are to be given to Mrs. Jansen before November 29 as they must reach Castle Point Hospital in time for Christmas selection by the veteran. Such gifts are to cost from fifty cents to one dollar and must be new articles. They should not be wrapped but paper, tags, string, etc., should be included in each package. Mrs. Ray LeFevre was appointed poppy chairman and plans are already under way to make a thorough canvass of the town. Funds are used to care for disabled veterans and child welfare work. Refreshments were served following the meeting and a social time was enjoyed with the Legion.

Tobacco Head's Daughter Divorces Montague Hackett

Reno, Nev., Nov. 23 (AP)—Montague H. Hackett, New York advertising consultant, was divorced here Thursday by Mrs. Flavia Riggio Hackett, daughter of Vincent Riggio, new president of the American Tobacco Company.

She charged extreme mental cruelty. Custody of their two children, Montague H. Hackett, Jr., 15, and Randall W., 11, and property rights were settled by sealed agreement. The Hacketts were married at Irvington-on-the-Hudson, N. Y., June 27, 1931.

Hairdressers' Meeting

The Ulster-Greene County Hairdressers Association held its November meeting in Saugerties on Monday evening, November 18. The meeting was very largely attended. Help was given to all hairdressers in these counties in filling out their state license blanks. The next meeting will be held in Kingston, and will be very important due to the fact that nominations will be made for the new officers for 1947. All members are requested to attend.

Girls Travel Incognito

South Africa Airways is training air hostesses by the score and recently took the first eight of them over the route from Johannesburg to Windhoek, just to get them accustomed to aircraft and the route to be covered. They were dressed as civilians, and other passengers did not recognize them as employes. Another batch of 25 hostesses immediately started training.

HIGHLAND

Highland, Nov. 23—The cheerleaders sponsored a Victory dance in honor of the football team last Saturday evening, in the auditorium at the high school. The hall was decorated with printed names of members of the squads on footballs which appeared to be coming out of blue and gold megaphones, and with balloons and streamers. The chaperones were Mr. and Mrs. James C. Vanderpoel, Mr. and Mrs. Frank LaFalce and Miss Ann McPhail. Cider and doughnuts were served.

Miss Marian Welker will come from Washington this week-end to remain over next week with her mother, Mrs. Franklin Welker.

Miss Norma Miller, who was injured last summer when she was thrown from her bicycle as she rode from the yard on to the highway and collided with a passing car, has returned home. She has been a patient in St. Francis hospital since the accident.

Mrs. Edwin Clark entertained a foursome of bridge Monday afternoon.

Dr. J. S. Taylor, director of the Kingston laboratory, was the speaker Tuesday evening at the meeting of the Lions club at Blossom Inn. This was also ladies night. Dr. Taylor spoke on cancer control and told of the need in Ulster county of a tumor clinic building and equipment. Plans are already under way for such a building in Kingston.

The benefit movie, "Naughty Marietta", sponsored by the Highland Council of Church Women, was a success with 325 tickets being sold and more than $55 added to the treasury. Mrs. John Wadlin was chairman and thanks were extended Mrs. Louis Smith for her generosity in opening the theater.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Champlin drove to New York Wednesday for the day.

Mrs. Heston Woolsey met her committee, Mrs. Charles Champlin, Mrs. Fred Boyce, Mrs. Gladys Mears, Mrs. Gideon Tompkins and Mrs. Victor Salvatore, Thursday afternoon at the home of the latter for plans for a Christmas party to be held by the Ladies Aid society.

Mr. and Mrs. Leon Burnett have returned after an absence of several days while Mr. Burnett was hunting.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Champlin were in Marlborough Sunday afternoon calling upon A. Winthrop Williams and Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Haviland.

Thanksgiving will be observed in the Presbyterian church at 10:45 Sunday morning, with sermon by the Rev. Cornelius Otto and special music by the choir. An ancient Netherlands folk tune, "Prayer of Thanksgiving," will be sung; there will be a soprano solo by Miss Grace Brucklacher and an anthem.

Misses Dorothy Haight and Ruth Forsberg of Poughkeepsie were supper guests of Miss Eliza Raymond Thursday evening.

Mrs. Gladys Mears, superintendent of the Presbyterian Sunday school, has been given permission by the Reading Circle to procure a Christmas movie to be shown December 1, in the Sunday school. At night the congregation are invited to see the picture and join in a hymn sing in the church.

MODENA

Modena, Nov. 23 The 4-H Club homemaking class, comprised of older members, met this afternoon at the home of Marion DeWitt. On Friday night of the past week members of the club were entertained by the Clintondale Boys 4-H Club, at the home of its president, Alfred Carter. Games were played and refreshments were served.

Monte Smith remains at St. Francis Hospital, receiving treatment for injuries sustained while playing baseball.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Shay of Clintondale, en route to Elizabeth, N. J., were in this section Wednesday.

Mrs. Anna Miller and Mrs. Earl DeWitt visited at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Willet Deyo, Plattekill, Thursday.

Mrs. Sine Bernard, Jr., and family, also Mrs. Gloria Harris of Poughkeepsie, visited relatives here Sunday.

Jewish Book Month Celebration Here Sunday Afternoon

A Jewish Book Month celebration, under the auspices of the Kingston Jewish Community Council in cooperation with Jewish Book Council of America, will take place Sunday afternoon, between 3 and 5 o'clock at the Kingston Hebrew School on Post street.

The program with Raphael Klein, president of the Jewish Community Council, acting as chairman will commence with the presentation of Judah W. Katz, Jewish Welfare Board area worker, to the community. Rabbi Lee J. Levinger, noted Jewish historian, will make the formal dedication of the Kingston Jewish Library. Music, played by Mrs. Nat Kevess, violinist, and Mrs. Henry Singer, accompanying her at the piano, will follow this ceremony.

The main event of the afternoon will be a talk by Mrs. Elma Ehrlich Levinger, well-known author, poet, playwright, and biographer of the famous woman Zionist leader, Henrietta Szold. The subject of her talk will be "Living With Henrietta Szold."

On display at the Hebrew School will be many books by Jewish authors and of Jewish interest, together with ceremonial objects and objects d'art. The list of authors is vast, a small sample being: Nahum Bialik and Achad Ha'am, Palestine poets; Sholom Asch, Gladys Smitt, Thomas Mann, novelists; Maurice Samuel, and Theodore Herzl, writers on Zionism and Palestine; Samson Raphael Hirsch, Mordecai Kaplan, and Milton Steinberg, religious authors; Sholom Aleichem and other Yiddish authors, together with such writers on general topics as Joshua Loth Liebman and Salo Baron.

The ceremonial objects—to mention a few—will list among them a pointer for use in reading the Scroll of the Law, an Oriental spice box (B'somin box) in hand-wrought silver wire scroll work, Chanukah lamps from the Holy Land and various parts of Europe, a hand-wrought sacramental wine cup, and Sabbath candlesticks of European origin.

The public is invited to attend this celebration, which is a part of the nation-wide observance of Jewish Book Month, which takes place from November 15 to December 15.

SHOP EARLY—MAIL EARLY

The annual appeal is made for public cooperation to insure timely deliveries of Christmas mail. It has been suggested that parcels destined for distant places should be mailed by December 1. Parcels should be wrapped carefully and addressed completely and legibly.

Postal clerks cannot handle mountains of last-minute parcels, so it is wise to mail early lest our gifts arrive too late.

The clerks in the stores might also be considered. They too can do a much better job of serving the public if they are not rushed by last-minute shoppers.

So it really seems no more than a humane gesture to shop early and mail early.

Few restaurants seem to know that one way to bring the customers back is to serve their rolls hot.

FUSS ABOUT SUGAR

Representative Thomas A. Jenkins, of Ohio, chairman of the Republican Congressional Food Study Committee, claims the present sugar shortage is "government planned and will not be tolerated by American consumers." Though this country has had half a million less tons of sugar in 1946 than in 1945, Mr. Jenkins says sugar areas actually produced more sugar this year than any year in recent history. He believes the difficulty lies with too much exportation of sugar from this country, a figure which he says was twice as large in 1946 as the year before.

Countering Mr. Jenkins' assertions the Department of Agriculture says the shortage is really due to many factors: this country has been forced to export sugar to the Philippines which heretofore supplied American markets, but whose sugar fields were destroyed by war; other areas have not yet increased their yield to a pre-war basis; the maritime strike has kept millions of tons from this country. Officials add that this country is a sugar-importing not a sugar-exporting country and much of the sugar shipped from American shores was merely refined here.

Remember the time when dates were just something to eat?

SCIENTIFIC INDUSTRY

Approximately 134,000 people are engaged in industrial research, in 2,500 laboratories. This is a jump of over 90 per cent since 1940. To a large extent these research stations are located in the northeastern United States, but are spreading into all parts of the country. To attract personnel, grants and fellowships are being established for study in many educational institutions.

Here is something of great significance to industry. The sciences have been harnessed to commerce. It is a comparatively new phase of life in the United States, bound to affect every one's standard of living. For the work of these research technicians is almost without exception directed ultimately to greater efficiency and convenience in America's everyday program.

They say time and tide wait for no man, but gosh, how men wait for women!

BUSY RIVER

In the early days of this country, when waterways were the only possible travel routes, the cities along the Mississippi were busy and important centers of the whole country's commerce. The coming of the railroads was a body blow to some of these centers.

During the last few years, however, when railroads have been handicapped by lack of equipment and swamped with more freight than they could handle, river traffic has taken a new lease on life. There have always been a few people, too, who were attracted by the idea of a leisurely vacation trip down the Mississippi, and two boats have been available for this purpose, both of the stern-wheel type. A new ship is now being built to carry 500 passengers in de luxe style, and its screw-propelled operation will make the trip speedier and more enjoyable.

Those who do not enjoy the bumper-to-bumper traffic on the highways may find a peaceful, quiet interlude in traveling Mark Twain's route, with "Life on the Mississippi" as a deck-chair companion.

'These Days'

By George E. Sokolsky

THE MUMMER IS KING

The children stand a mob on the sidewalks, held in check by police on foot and on horseback. For blocks, they stand through the night, their drab faces lighting up occasionally as the Announcer shouts through the loudspeaker, "So-and-so has just arrived." The massed lights have turned the night into a glaring daylight, making the neon signs even more bizarre, even more grotesque. The Announcer shouts, "Please co-operate with the police," as though the police of the greatest city in the world require an Announcer to help them maintain order on the streets. Or perhaps they do.

For whom is all this excitement? Is it for the returning heroes of the War? Is it for the boys who have been away from home for years—is it a welcome to them? Is it for the President of the United States or for a visiting potentate? Is it for a realization that peace has come at last? Is it to mark a great invention, a cure for polio or cancer? What is all this for?

The limousines drive through the narrow, police-guarded lanes of traffic. The children, their eyes tired by the fierce glare of white lights, their bodies cold in the night, utter their astonishing, "Whee-ee-ee!"

It is the queerest sound, something between a sigh and shriek, an immature shriek, a feelingless sigh. It is not the roar of excitement, as at a football game. It is not the unrestrained applause at great achievement. It is more like a noisome wheeze. It runs through this adolescent mob, this bare-legged, besweatered uninspired mob. It seems so standardized, even like the uniform bare legs, so red in the night air, so shiny in the glaring light. It is like the badge of a profession.

Some creature, in silks and ermines, leaves the limousine, walking as though postured, swiftly passing from view. The Announcer shouts, "So-and-so has just arrived." It is a name — any name. "Whee-ee-ee" runs through the mob. "Whee-ee-ee" comes from the baby-faces. Will these children be at school in the morning? Will their reddened eyes be sufficiently awakened to see the printed word? Can their minds shake off the noise, the glare, the "Whee-ee-ee" when they return to school?

Who is this woman leaving the limousine, who evokes this mixture of shriek and sigh, this half-ejaculation? Does it matter much? Perhaps! I turned and asked a child. She thought me mad.

"Ya mean ya never heard of . . . . ? Where ya been?"

What is the name? Only the Sunday before I had been to Carnegie Hall to listen to Mischa Elman play a Beethoven concerto with the Philharmonic. I did not need to fight my way through police guards. No Pinkerton guards lined the lobby. No bright lights glared. No cameras flashed. Only a few nights before I had seen Margaret Webster and Eva Le Gallienne, two of America's most authentic actresses, in Ibsen's "Borkman." The theatre could be reached and entered in peace, as one goes to church.

But this name, the one the urchin uttered almost as a prayer, of her I had never heard. No, nor of her many husbands, of her divorces, of her fabulous wealth so vividly described by my informant. And yet, maybe, I had heard her name often, even seen it in print in those colums devoted to the trifling details of trivial personalities called celebrities. But it has passed out of my memory in those fearful years when millions died and the world was made over. I do remember General George S. Patton, Jr., but not this skinny girl begowned in ermine who walks like a mannikin through the night.

And so the "Whee-ee-ee" goes on. It is almost midnight. The children are still on the street in mobs. The police stand guard against a children's riot. Robberies, even murders occur, but the police are busy with these children. The streets are still jammed. Traffic has been stopped.

What is this thing? It is a movie preview. It is a mummer's holiday.

ASTHMA

Until recently the cause of asthma was unknown; in fact as asthma did not kill the patient treatment to relieve the attack was considered sufficient. Today while the causes of all attacks of asthma have not been discovered, many causes have been found and attacks not only relieved but prevented.

One of the mistakes of former years and even of today is neglecting the general health of the patient. Thus in the Canadian Medical Association Journal, Dr. G. D. Stanley, Calgary, Canada, states that the resistance of patients with asthma must be kept at the highest possible level since any disturbance that lowers the standard of health in susceptible persons, lowers their ability to resist the underlying causes of asthma.

Among the known causes of asthma are (a) being susceptible to asthma, (b) nose and throat defects, (c) allergy, (d) infection due to various organisms. Treatment is given according to the cause.

Dr. Stanley mentions seven groups or types of asthma and their treatment.

In the first group are cases with some irritation of nose or throat with swelling of lining of nose, spasm of bronchial tubes but no allergy or infection present. These patients should wear respirators if working in dusty occupations.

The second group consists of "hay fever" cases with allergy to vegetable or animal proteins but with no infection present. These may be desensitized every 3, 6 or 12 months. The offending food may often be found by keeping a food diary. Neosynephrin may be used up the nose. Injections of adrenlin relieve these attacks.

The third group is same as second group except that no sinus trouble is present, more often the common cold.

The fourth group is like the third but with infection present. Stock vaccine is the treatment together with breathing exercises and short wave treatments.

In the fifth group—chronic bronchitis cases—breathing exercises and vaccines are given.

The sixth group, due to obstruction of bronchial tubes and seventh group — advanced disease of bronchial tubes — are also treated with breathing exercises and stock vaccines.

Asthma—Causes and Treatment

The cause or causes of asthma were unknown until recently. Now that it is known that allergy, nose and throat defects, emotional disturbances can cause the attacks most asthmatics can be helped. Send today for Dr. Barton's booklet entitled Asthma, enclosing ten cents and a three cent stamp, to The Bell Syndicate, in care of The Kingston Daily Freeman, Post Office Box 99, Station O, New York 19, N. Y., and ask for your copy of "Asthma, Causes and Treatment."

The Little Savage

"At Century's Turn"

By H. L. VAN DEUSEN

The widely known Clinton House on North Front street on March 8, 1907, was sold to Walter Mitchell of Ellenville, who renamed it The Mitchell House, which name it retained over a long period of years. Today the former well known hotel is used as a warehouse by M. H. Herzog, the Wall street hardware dealer.

The Clinton House for a number of years had been conducted by Mrs. Cora Van Buren, who at the time it was sold to Mr. Mitchell, planned to retire. Mr. Mitchell, the new proprietor, was an old experienced hotel man who for 12 years had conducted the Mitchell House in Ellenville, and for six years a hotel at Roxbury.

The contract for the construction of the present Central Post Office building on Broadway on March 2, 1907, was awarded to [illegible] of New York, who had submitted the low bid to the government. The net amount of the bid was $72,035.

James E. Phinney who served as mayor of the city during 1900 and 1901, died in his home on Delaware avenue in Ponckhockie on March 16, 1907, aged 68 years.

Mr. Phinney was born in Saugerties on January 8, 1839, and spent his school days in Woodstock. When 14 years old he went to sea on a whaler and later shipped on a merchant vessel, spending nine years at sea.

In 1861 he enlisted in the U. S. Navy, and after serving 13 months received his discharge and enlisted in the army serving throughout the Civil War with great distinction. He was wounded twice, once severely, and was captured by the Rebels, but later rescued by the Union forces.

Mr. Phinney in 1867 embarked in the milling business in the old Twaalfskill mill in Wilbur, which he successfully conducted for some years.

In 1892 he served the city as treasurer, and in 1899 in a red hot political campaign he defeated William D. Brinnier for the office of mayor.

In the later years of his life Mr. Phinney was employed as superintendent by the old Newark Lime & Cement Co. He was a member of Pratt Post, and of Franklin Lodge, Knights of Pythias. For years he was an active member of the Clinton Avenue Methodist Church.

Another well known citizen of Ponckhockie was John Hutton, Jr., who died on March 10, 1907, in his home on East Union street, aged 69 years.

Mr. Hutton when a young man embarked in the grocery business with his brother, William Hutton, in Ponckhockie. He later purchased his brother's interest in the business which he continued until 1892 when he embarked in the real estate business.

Fraternally he was a member of Rondout Lodge of Masons. Mr. Hutton was for many years a member of the Rondout Presbyterian Church.

Patrick Curnan, a well known contractor, died March 7, 1907, in his home, 278 West Chestnut street. He had had many contracts in this vicinity, the last one of importance being the excavating and grading of the Kingston Library lot on Broadway, opposite the city hall.

Michael Jerson died March 11, 1907, in his home on West Fair-mont street, aged 67 years. Mr. Jerson for many years was engaged in the retail milk business downtown until he retired a few years prior to his death.

Births Gain in Japan

Tokyo (AP)—Living is precarious in Japan and yet the population grows. There were 193,536 births and 117,513 deaths in September. Noting that September's births were 16.6% more than August's the newspaper Jiji Shimpo commented: "This is an ironical phenomenon in these days, when birth control is supposed to be popular."

Leaves From Boyle's Notebook

New York, Nov. 23 (AP)—If you meet "the great sea serpent," long-dreamed of by zoologists, don't do anything hasty. Be friendly.

The mistake made by a group of Italian fishermen the other day was in attacking the 100-foot rose-colored monster they say they saw in Lake Como.

The startled monster, they say, bowled over their boats and dived for the lake bottom. So science lost another chance to lure ashore and catalog the last unclassified titan of the waters—if there is one.

From studying the lore of students who believe in the existence of the sea serpent, I have culled these tips on how to behave socially if you bump into one.

In the first place, if you think you see one in a barroom, rub your eyes twice and put on your glasses. If the serpent doesn't disappear, call a doctor—for yourself.

But if you come up from a dive along some lonely sea or lake shore and see a huge unknown bulk swimming before you, start treading water silently. If the bulk resolves itself into a fat lady side stroking west, well—false alarm.

Should it be "the great sea serpent," however, you can recognize him by these points:

He will look something like an ordinary newt suffering from a pituitary gland derangement. That is, he will be something under or over 100 feet long. If he is an orthodox sea serpent, he also will have a long slender neck and tail, a large body to balance them, four flippers to help him through the waves, a smooth skin without scales.

He also may have a mane. In color he will be dark brown on top fading to lighter shades on the underbody.

Lt. Cmdr. R. T. Gould, a retired British naval officer who figured out these characteristics and became annoyed at people who didn't believe in sea serpents, added:

"Its principal habitat is the Atlantic Ocean, both north and south, and it appears to like sunshine and hot weather and to be migratory."

Scotland's Loch Ness monster and Lake Como's new tourist attraction must be fresh water varieties. So don't lose hope of a chance encounter if you live inland.

Now for what to do:

Remember that for all his size he is gentle, timorous, and solitary. You don't believe those old Norwegian sailor tales, do you, that he used to rear up and gobble men off ship decks?"

He is lonely after all these centuries and [illegible] for a pal. Look him in the eye. Hum something sweet and croony, like "Love's Old Sweet Song." Avoid boogie-woogie, "Anchors Aweigh," or anything startling.

When you see you have his confidence, talk to him—steadily and in a low tone:

"Come on, boy, aren't you tired of being alone? What's troubling you? Swim over here, old boy, and let me scratch the barnacles off your port side. There, isn't that better?"

Then you give him the final pitch:

"What say we flap on ashore and pick up a couple hundred fresh shrimp salads? Say, and afterward, I know the sweetest little sea serpent uptown that's just been dying to meet a salt water guy like you. Come on, race you for the shore."

And nine times out of ten that old sea serpent will follow you like a fox terrier. You can lead him by the mane. But don't lead him into any barrooms. You'll be right back where you were—nobody believing you.

Apple Redbug Control Subject of Bulletin

Geneva, N. Y.—Oil sprays to destroy the eggs or the use of nicotine sprays or of DDT against the immature stages of the insect insure successful control of the apple redbug, according to findings of entomologists at the Experiment Station here.

Tests conducted by the Station scientists cover a period of 14 years in the Hudson Valley and 7 years in western New York, and are summarized in a bulletin just published by the Experiment Station and now available upon request.

Injury to both fruit and foliage is caused by the feeding of the immature "nymphs" and the adult redbug, it is explained. Foliage injury is not a serious problem, but the fruit may be so badly scarred, russeted, or deformed as to render it unsaleable. The insect is widely distributed throughout the state, but the amount of injury varies from tree to tree and from orchard to orchard, say the Station workers. It may be limited to certain orchards on a farm or even to a few trees within an orchard. Outbreaks of the pest vary widely from year to year. The most severely damaged orchard observed during the 12-year period in the Hudson Valley showed 75 per cent of the fruit injured.

The redbug passes the winter in the egg stage in the bark and wood of twigs and waterspouts. The insect begins hatching out as the trees are blooming and grows through the immature stages before reaching maturity. Egg laying occurs during June and July with the adults dying by the last of July. There is only one generation in New York state.

Petroleum oil sprays applied during the [illegible] delayed stages were found effective in destroying the eggs. The dormant spray should contain 4 per cent of a paraffinic base oil and the delayed dormant 3 per cent of a highly paraffinic product, say the Station scientists. Blood albumin at the rate of 2 ounces in 100 gallons of water is advised as an emulsifier for the dormant sprays and bordeaux mixture 2-4-100 for the delayed dormant.

Nicotine sulfate used at the rate of 1 pint in 100 gallons applied in the calyx spray is the standard recommendation for the control of redbugs in the immature stages of growth. A 2 per cent nicotine-lime dust containing 0.15 to 0.2 per cent pyrethrins also gave excellent control when applied within five days after the calyx stage. Small-scale trials suggest that DDT may be fully as effective as nicotine or pyrethrum, and if future results bear out this indication, DDT may become the preferred insecticide for killing the hatched stages. The redbug appears to be remarkably free of natural enemies.

Twenty and Ten Years Ago

Nov. 23, 1926—Josiah Trowbridge died in his home on Main street, aged 73 years.

Lumber Prospects Point to Big Gain

Ithaca, N. Y.—Lumber prospects for this year point to a production of about 33 billion board feet, a big gain over last year's output, but not enough to catch up with the tremendous demand.

This is the information received by Prof. J. A. Cope, extension forester at Cornell, from the Forest Service, U. S. Department of Agriculture.

Coupled with the shortage is the further difficulty that distribution is not flowing through normal channels. It means, says Cope, that farmers and others will not get all the lumber they want.

"Farmers are largely dependent on retail distribution for their lumber. Many contractors building houses and doing general building repair draw on retail lumber stocks, and they also buy direct from mills and wholesalers.

"Prospects are that at least 8 billion board feet of lumber will pass through retail yards to consumers this year, which is less than half the volume that passed through retail yards in 1940. Thus small consumers such as farmers can expect to get only half as much through this source as in 1940."

Although 1946 total production is greater, a large proportion is moving directly from mill to consumer, mostly to large contractors who are building much of the new housing, the report said. The effect on the farmer is the same as if production were considerably less than it is.

If farmers get a third of the 8 to 9 billion board feet produced this year (the same proportion as in 1940), they will obtain only about 3 billion feet, compared with 5½ billion in 1940, said the Forest Service.

"Some feel that farmers will use 4 billion feet from retail yards in 1946 and 6 to 7 billion in 1947. These are only estimates, but they illustrate why the supply is so short of the incessant demand."

Army Lures Soldiers

Eire's ambitious plan for making army life attractive includes such benefits as higher pay, shorter working hours, more attractive uniforms, specialized training, and improvement of living accommodations and facilities, Dublin reports. New working hours for soldiers are from 9 a. m. to 5 p. m., with Saturday afternoons off and a half-day Wednesday for any type of sport selected by the men. The five-mile leave limit has been abolished and a soldier may go anywhere providing he gets back by 10 p. m.

Pineapples weighing 20 pounds are common in the New Hebrides islands.

PROTECTING DRUNKEN TENANT

Nobody has as yet challenged a statement I made some time ago that O.P.A. controls over rental property amount to virtual seizure. On the other hand I continue to hear protests against repeated abuses which prove my point.

The plight of a woman who described, herself, in a letter to Senator Knowland as "a career woman, having saved my money and invested in a duplex so I would not be a burden on the state and county in my old age," illustrates the point:

"Last February," she wrote, "I rented one side of the duplex, furnished, to an attorney working for the government who had been with O.P.A. and still had influence with the bureau. He moved out and put another tenant in my apartment. He had no lease and no authority to do so. In attempting to evict the new tenant for illegal trespass, the woman judge ruled that since the first tenant had left two throw rugs, two lace curtains and a lampshade in my place, he had not abandoned it!"

And, though the first tenant moved out and occupied another house, he continued to exercise control, backed by his friend the O.P.A., over the duplex he had in fact vacated.

This complaint sounds as if it might have come from one of the countries recently overrun by Soviet Russia. It shames us that we permit it here in America.

No Answer from O.P.A.

In a registered letter to President Truman another militant minute-man recently protested against abuses perhaps even more flagrant:

"Some women tenants in my court gave their keys to men who went in and out of their apartments any time of day or night. When I complained to the O.P.A. they told me it was none of my business.

"I have a bachelor tenant in one apartment who gets drunk and disorderly, calls my manager vile names and runs out into the hallway in the nude. He was arrested for this, but when I went to the O.P.A. I was told all I could do was to give him an order to cease and desist. I did this, but he keeps on getting drunk and disorderly with O.P.A. protection.

"When my son returned from the Navy I gave one of the undesirable women tenants notice to leave, mailing proper papers to O.P.A. The bureau took its time about answering, while my son—back from fighting to protect human rights—slept on a mattress on the floor. Eventually the O.P.A. came back with the reply that my request for the apartment was denied under Section 6(b)1, of Rent Regulations.

"I wrote O.P.A. to find out what this section was. No answer. I called them and asked for a copy of Rent Regulations to find out why my petition was denied and I was told, 'We do not have any spare copies.'

"My son is still sleeping on a mattress on the floor and I still have not found out why I cannot get the use of my own apartment for him."

This man was so angry at the violations of his rights and the flaunting of human dignity he was ready to march on somebody or something.

It was the same spirit which caused the wholesale repudiation of New Deal Rooseveltian politics at the polls, and it is strange that, even since the election, Truman continues to talk about maintaining the Fascistic rental bureau for another year.

Truman began very close to the soil in Missouri and, despite his long career of petty politics, one may wonder if he is really happy about a government-backed gang which skins one class of people to please another.

It is a safe bet that the angry landlord's letter did not reach the President's desk, even though it was sent by registered mail. And that's too bad, because a few letters like that might remind the one-time farm boy of the supreme moral value of the Bill of Rights and of how doggedly Americans cherish the principles underlying that "bill."

WHAT IT MEANS

Presidential Powers

By SHERRY BOWEN
A.P. Newsfeatures Writer

Any factional disputes between Democratic President Truman and the Republican Congress which opens January 3 will be just another installment of a headache which started with the founding fathers and has been throbbing in America's governmental noodle ever since.

When Sen. Fulbright (D-Ark) suggested that the President appoint a Republican secretary of state and then resign in his favor, White House reports indicated he wouldn't do any such thing.

But either way, Truman is right in the middle of a muddle over the presidency which has grown periodically and unpredictably in American affairs.

The constitutional convention in 1787 didn't decide what to do about the President until the last minute. The wording of the constitutional definition of presidential powers is credited to Gouveneur Morris, convention expert on phrasing, and apparently never was voted upon. Lawyers have been arguing ever since whether "The executive power ... vested in a President," grants something not otherwise specified in the document.

Kingdom Was Feared

Before the convention James Madison, "A national executive will also be necessary. I have scarcely ventured to form my own opinion yet either on the manner in which it ought to be constituted or the authorities with which it ought to be clothed." Neither had anyone else, apparently.

The convention rejected election of the President by Congress and later election by electors. Then it decided to let Congress elect and finally changed its mind and approved the elector system.

The uncertainty was understandable. The new republic existed in a world full of Kings. Alexander Hamilton found it necessary to defend the proposed President against opponents who pictured him "with a diadem sparkling on his brow and the imperial purple flowing in his train."

Parties Were Unforseen

In general, most of the predictions and expectations of the founding fathers about the presidency were proved false later.

The electors, given an important role in the Constitution, were insignificant almost from the start. And when Aaron Burr and Thomas Jefferson got an equal number of electoral votes, precipitating a battle in the House which has jurisdiction in such cases, the Twelfth Amendment was rushed through to provide separate votes for President and Vice President.

In any case, the founders had no conception of a party system. Parties were in disrepute after many centuries during which sponsorship of opposition parties was considered treason in most countries.

Thus the nation as it has grown from less than four million inhabitants has been faced with an original uncertainty about the role of the President and has had to build a chief executive to suit its needs as it went along and at the same time adjust his relationships with the other branches of the government.

How Powers Have Grown

High spots of the development in the presidency include:

1. Jefferson's extreme deference to Congress modified by the fact that he got what he wanted through party leadership.

3. The war powers which President Lincoln was forced to assume.

4. The bitter fight between Andrew Johnson and Congress.

5. The dynamic program of Theodore Roosevelt which greatly increased the power of the Presidents.

6. The war-backed development of Wilson.

7. The depression and war programs of Franklin D. Roosevelt.

Now comes Harry Truman facing a hostile Congress in a possible war emergency.

Religious Radio Programs

Under the auspices of the Kingston Ministerial Association, cooperating with Station WKNY, the following broadcasts will be presented during the coming week:

Morning service of worship Sunday, 11 to 12 o'clock, from St. James Methodist Church; sermon by the Rev. W. Wesley Williams. The following Sunday, and each Sunday through December and January, the church service broadcast will be from the Reformed Church of the Comforter.

Each day, except Sunday at 7:35 a. m., five-minute transcribed program known as "Victorious Living," a production of the International Council of Religious Education.

Devotions, Monday through Friday, at 8:45 a. m., the following ministers officiating: Monday, the Rev. Lorenz Proli of the Federated Church of Kerhonkson; Tuesday, the Rev. Stephen W. Ryder of the Flatbush Reformed Church; Wednesday, the Rev. Robert T. Shellenberger of St. John's Episcopal Church; Thursday, the Rev. L. R. Guier, local superintendent of the Free Methodist Church; Friday, the Rev. Oscar Jelsma of Mt. Marion Reformed Church. On Saturday, at the same hour, the Sunday school lesson for the following day will be presented by George Lowe of Trinity Methodist Church school.

St. Paul's Church School Elects Leaders

At the annual business meeting of the Church School Teachers' Association of St. Paul's Evangelical Lutheran Church, Tuesday evening, Leonard Korth, Sr., was elected superintendent of the school. Miss Lorraine Beers, secretary; Miss Evelyn Will, treasurer; Miss Margaret Rieser, cradle-roll superintendent.

Preparations were made for the Christmas celebration to be given by the school Christmas eve at 7 o'clock. The new teachers were received into the Association. A contribution to the American Bible Society, for printing Bibles in German and Japanese, was voted. It was announced that in the near future a colored stained glass window would be installed in the church auditorium, by the school.

Thanksgiving Service

Many of the young people's groups of Ulster county will unite in a Thanksgiving service at the First Baptist Church on November 24. This service, to which all young people are invited, will start at 8 p. m. The opening devotional services will be in charge of Fred Saeger of St. James Methodist Church, who will be assisted by the young people of the Church of the Comforter Junior Christian Endeavor Society. The speaker of the evening will be the Rev. Robert Dickson, pastor of the Hurley Reformed Church, who will bring the Thanksgiving message.

Thanksgiving Service

The Church of the Comforter will hold its annual Thanksgiving service Thursday morning at 10:30, to which the public is invited. The sermon will be by the Rev. Raymond J. Pontier and there will be special music.

Service at Hurley

A service of thanksgiving will be held in the Hurley church at 10 o'clock Thanksgiving Day morning. The invitation is extended to all to join in the service of prayer, praise and meditation.

Presbyterian Churches Raising Huge Fund

It is announced that in the Presbytery of North River, with 27 churches, including the Rondout and First Churches, Kingston, 69 per cent of its quota of $81,603 in the Restoration Fund of the Presbyterian Church in the United States has been subscribed. The Rondout Church soon will undertake to raise a quota of $2,757 and the First Church, under the direction of Elder Walter H. Caunitz, is seeking to complete its campaign for $4,044, of which approximately $2,500 has been assured. Local leaders of Presbytery's Fund Commission are William C. Kingman and Frederick Stang. William Smith 2nd of Poughkeepsie, who has the distinction of being moderator of North River Presbytery, is also chairman of New York Synod's laymen's committee for the fund.

It is of local interest that the Rev. Dr. Lee J. Ferry of 238 Albany avenue, formerly pastor of the Metropolitan Church in Washington, D. C., area director for the fund in eight Presbyteries, with 300 churches, reports that the total subscribed to date is $507,000, or 61 per cent of the area quota of $830,000. This exceeds any other area in the Synod and with minor exceptions leads the denominational effort.

The $27,000,000 program of the Presbyterians is but part of the over-all effort of American Protestants to raise $112,000,000 for the purpose of relieving the curses of war and providing spiritual restoration for the Christian forces in Europe, Asia and the islands of the sea. This huge fund will be largely distributed through existing, recognized, non-competitive organizations, such as the World Council of Churches and the Church Committee for Relief in Asia.

Annual Memorial Service

Sunday, November 24, at the 11 o'clock service of Trinity Evangelical Lutheran Church, the annual memorial service will be held for those in the parish who have died during the last church year. This special service of commemoration will be conducted by the pastor, the Rev. Frank Lawrence Gollnick, who will preach on the theme, "Out of the Depths." As each name is read the church bell will toll, signifying the passing of a soul. Special music has been arranged by Anthony J. Messina, choir director, and Miss Lucinda Merritt, organist. Since this is the Sunday preceding Thanksgiving Day the annual thank-offering of the parish will be taken. Special emphasis was given to this Sunday in a recent pastoral letter.

Union-Fern Stores Holding Prices Down

Albany, Nov. 22—Despite the demise of O.P.A. the Union-Fern furniture stores have instituted a policy of holding the prices down to O.P.A. levels or lower, Joseph Goodman, president of the firm, announced today.

Mr. Goodman, stressing the fact that it is the retailers' responsibility to protect the buying public from inflationary trends, stated he was proud of the reception accorded the three new stores opened during the year at Gloversville, Kingston and Pittsfield.

Plans for the coming year were outlined at a meeting of the sales and executive staff of the 10 Union Fern stores at the DeWitt Clinton Hotel Wednesday night.

A. I. Milstein, general sales manager, announced that the Schenectady store is being completely remodeled. The 11th store will open in Amsterdam early next spring.

THE CAMERA CORNER

Night Life of The Shutterbug

One of the beauties of night picture taking out of doors is that you don't have to wait for good weather. Neither snow, nor rain, nor heat, nor gloom of night stops the night-prowling shutterbug. Winter is as good as summer and often better.

Since practically all exposures at night are made with the camera set on "time," you can get just about as good results with a box camera as you can with a fancy-priced one. You'll need a good, strong tripod and a lens hood.

No hard and fast rules can or should be given about the best film to use for night photography. In general, it can be said that a pan film such as Ansco Superpan Press is always quite satisfactory because its speed allows for shorter exposures. That's important at times when the vibration of passing vehicles or the motion of the subject itself might spoil a long exposure.

Estimating Exposures

Exposure meters are of little value at night. Experience and experiment are your best guides. In estimating exposures, as you will have to do, base your guess not so much on the brightness of the individual lights showing as on the general illumination. A floodlighted building, for example, or a well-lighted street, may be taken satisfactorily on pan film at an exposure of ten to forty seconds at f 8 or f 11. Probably 2 minutes at f 11 on pan film is as good a basic exposure as any for an average night scene. But don't be afraid to give good full exposures.

However, for your own satisfaction and reference you might take the same scene at three different speeds—say, 30 seconds, 2 minutes, and 8 or 10 minutes. Best negative wins.

City buildings or a skyline can be caught best about a half hour after sunset when they are silhouetted against a small amount of twilight in the sky. For the most spectacular effect, take them in late fall, winter and early spring when they are still lighted at dusk.

What to Look For

The variety of subjects for night photography is as unlimited as it is in daylight. Besides the infinite variety of city streets, there are railroad stations, airports, lighted ships in the harbor, fireworks, lightning, fires, heavy industries such as steel, petroleum and shipyards. Scenes, which in daylight would be dull as ditchwater, take on bizarre and picturesque qualities at night.

The best kind of night for the most successful pictures is the wet or misty or snowy night when the reflections give new life to old scenes. But protect your camera lens from the weather. Set up the camera in a doorway or other protected spot or shield it with an umbrella or cloth. Never mind if you catch a cold. Night photography is worth it.

PICTURE OF THE WEEK. Even though they are dwarfed by the majestic mountain peak, the two intrepid skiers in the foreground bring drama to this breathtaking photo of Illumination Rock, Mt. Hood, Oregon. Without them there would be no scale for size and the picture would have had only the cold fascination of rugged, inhuman Nature. It was taken at noon on an April day with a Speed Graphic using Ansco Superpan Press film. The exposure was 1/100 second at f 22. A K2 filter was employed.

Photo Forum

1. Suppose I don't have a very contrasty paper, can anything be done to get increased contrast in my prints?

ANSWER: By using a stronger developing solution you can get increased contrast with most grades of paper. For instance, if your usual developer is mixed with four parts of water to one stock solution, reduce it to two parts of water to one of stock for more contrast. Wherever possible, however, use the correct grade of paper.

A Tip in Time

Always handle acid with care. Where it is used in a solution with water, always add the acid to the water, never add the water to the acid. This prevents spattering.

Prints left in a fresh hypo bath too long are apt to become bleached out. Twenty minutes is the maximum time for leaving them in fresh hypo.

In mounting prints make the top and side margins equal in width and the bottom margin about one-half again as wide.

Windbreak Will Save on Fuel Costs

Ithaca, N. Y.—For folks who live in the country, one way to save on fuel costs is to have a windbreak. Tests show that up to 40 per cent reductions have been made in fuel, Fred E. Winch, Jr., of Cornell's forestry department, reported today.

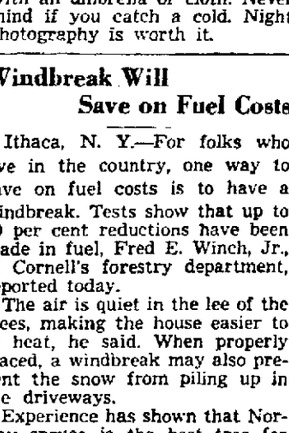

The air is quiet in the lee of the trees, making the house easier to to heat, he said. When properly placed, a windbreak may also prevent the snow from piling up in the driveways.

Experience has shown that Norway spruce is the best tree for the purpose. Three rows, staggered, placed 15 feet apart, with trees also placed 15 feet apart within the row, form a desirable windbreak. As the prevailing winter winds are from the north and west, the windbreak in the form of an L should be located to cut off such winds. One hundred feet of windbreak may be planted with 23 trees.

"Large stock two to four feet in height should be planted early in the spring. Trees should be carefully mulched with straw or sawdust to hold moisture and should be protected from livestock.

"Plan now to do something about the climate around your your house," says Winch. Further details may be had from the forestry department, Cornell University, Ithaca, N. Y.

Woodstock Guild To Hold Classes

Woodstock, Nov. 22—The Woodstock Guild of Craftsman has announced the following classes which will run through the winter and spring and which are in progress:

Woodcarving—Wednesday, 7:30-9:30 p. m.

Metal class for men—Monday, 7:30-9:30 p. m.

Metal class for women—Friday, 2:30-4:30 p. m.

Leatherwork — Thursday, 2:30-4:30 p. m.

Color and design—Tuesday and Thursday, 2:30-4:30 p. m.

Students may enter these classes for five or more lessons at the price of two dollars per lesson. The classes are small in number which enables the Guild to give intensive instruction toward the development of Craftsman.

Teaching members of the staff include: Edward Thatcher, iron worker and master craftsman; Martin Steffanson, a veteran of World War 2, who while in the U. S. Armed Forces taught crafts to the G.I.'s in Hawaii, and Miss Beatrice Gazzolo, who formerly studied and taught in the New York Art School.

Classes are held in the Guild Headquarters in Woodstock in workshops fully equipped with tools and materials for this purpose.

The Guild will open its annual Holiday Fair and pre-Christmas sale November 29 in the Guild building.

Etching by Alfred Hutty Chosen for Exhibition

An etching by Alfred Hutty of Woodstock has been chosen for inclusion in the 31st annual exhibition of the Society of American Etchers, current at the National Academy Galleries in New York. He is represented by a drypoint entitled "Discussion Group, Carolina."

The show, which is combined with the eighth annual exhibition of miniature prints, will continue to December 3rd. The jury of selection chose 237 prints for the show from thousands submitted by etchers in all parts of the country.

Village Notes

Woodstock, Nov. 22—Mr. Novogold, owner of the Colony Hotel has completed the reconversion into apartments of the small house next door to the Colony. The job was done with good judgment and taste and the finished building adds greatly to the attractiveness of the street.

Mr. and Mrs. Howard Bell received a card from Mrs. Cecil from Savannah, Ga., where she had stopped en route to Fort Lauderdale, Fla. Mrs. Cecil reported excellent weather all the way.

Evidence Sought

Warsaw, P. The Polish Ministry of Justice had planned to try Hans Frank, former Nazi governor of Warsaw, for war crimes this summer but has run into difficulty in collecting evidence. Newspapers reported that many documents which could have been used by the prosecution were destroyed in the unsuccessful 1944 Warsaw insurrection.

OFFICE CAT

By Junius

The world is waking up and men who used to slumber peacefully in church every Sunday morning now are behind the steering wheel—alert and ready for anything.

At a busy crossing a bus had to pull up very sharply and a truck behind bumped into it.

The truck driver jumped down, ran to the front of the bus and told the driver a lot of home-truths about his driving.

When he stopped for want of breath the bus driver leaned out of the window and said very quietly:

Bus Driver—I thought you'd be a little cross.

Some blow-outs make lots of noise — others are held on the quiet.

Cook—There's one trouble with baking dough-nuts. You can't cheat.

Sarge—Why not?

Cook—Well, the larger you make the holes, the more dough it takes to go around them.

"Mechanically, we are moving at the speed of a jet plane. Socially we are driving an ox cart."
— Eric Johnston.

Magistrate—Witness says you neither slowed down nor tried to avoid hitting the pedestrian.

Motorist—I took all precautions. I blew my horn and cursed him.

Teacher (after reading to the class about the big forests)—And now, boys, who can tell the pine that has the longest and sharpest needles?

Junior—The porcupine.

The bride was telling her friends that Uncle George had promised to furnish her kitchen with all necessary equipment—a surprise because Uncle George was notoriously "close." Just as she had finished dilating on his unexpected generosity, a small box arrived. Upon opening it she found a can-opener to which was attached a card reading:

"I am sure this will be all the equipment you will find necessary in your kitchen."

Mourning

The flag-pole sitter felt quite bad
His wife had passed away.
And so he climbed the pole and sat
At half-mast all that day.
— C. Fleming.

The more outrageous the prices the less seemly is the frown.

Beautiful Young Girl (shaking her head decidedly)—No, Mr. Money, I cannot marry you. You are over 70 and I am only 16.

Mr. Money (shrugging his shoulders)—All right, sweet, I'll wait.

Slogan for the new car situation: "No bribe no drive!"

Junior—Dad, I had a fight with the boy next door yesterday.

Father—Yes, son. His father called me about it today.

Junior—Well, I hope you made out as well as I did.

Foreman (on Monday)—Why isn't Bill Jones at work this morning?

Mate—He met with an accident at his wedding on Saturday.

Foreman (astonished) — Accident?

Mate—Yes. As he and his bride left the church, some of the boys made an archway of picks and shovels for them to pass under. Somebody blew a whistle and the whole lot dropped the tools.

People are funny: they spend money they don't have, to buy things they don't need, to impress folks they don't like.

People who travel for pleasure these days must be pretty miserable at home.

First Man—Do you think the senator put enough fire into his speech?

Friend—My opinion is he didn't put enough of his speech into the fire.

Rhubarb has been used as a drug in medicine from early times.

32 Wild Sheep Caught

Denver (AP)—The Colorado Game and Fish Department has completed transplanting of 32 mountain sheep from a herd of more than 800 in the Tarryall range near Colorado Springs to the high peaks above Georgetown. Director Cleland N. Feast said 32 was the largest number of the wild and shrewd animals ever captured in a single wire fence trap.

Flashes of Life Sketched in Brief

Discord

San Jose, Calif., Nov. 23 (AP)—Fred Vasquez is suing for divorce in Superior Court on charges that his wife refused to let him play his accordion in house.

Looking Glass Time

Ventura, Calif., Nov. 23 (AP)—Customers who drop into John Morrissey's barber shop find it easy to tell time from a clock which runs backwards. When Morrissey had his electric clock changed from 50 to 60 cycles, it ran backward.

So he changed the numerals to counter-clockwise order, and now customers tell the time by looking in the mirror.

The One That Got Away

San Jose, Calif., Nov. 23 (AP)—This fish never gave up.

Detective George Pyne had good luck fishing and brought the San Jose jail a dozen catfish. The first 11 fried uneventfully, but when a trusty attempted to "fry" the remaining fish in a lot of hot water and a little grease, he reported to Jailer Charles Martin that the "fish just won't lay down and fry."

Martin decided to keep the struggling catfish as a jail mascot in recognition of its heroic survival.

Theft Bared

Chicago, Nov. 23 (AP)—Detectives Tom McManus and Joseph McCarthy investigated the theft of a painting from the art galleries of the Dick Lewis studios.

Lewis reported the theft of one of his paintings, "Nude Combing Her Hair," by a well known magazine illustrator.

The policemen examined the register to see who had visited the galleries, discovered one name. In large bold letters were printed the familiar words: "KILROY was here!"

Dream Comes True

Peoria, Ill., Nov. 23 (AP)—Mrs. William Buttram, disturbed in her sleep, nudged her husband and said drowsily: "There's a burglar in the house."

"You're dreaming—go back to sleep," Buttram groaned.

In the morning Mrs. Buttram reported that a thief had removed $6 from beneath her pillow and $1 from her husband's pants—while they were asleep.

Flying Boom Doubles Indian Air Routes

Calcutta—India's civil aviation has been making rapid postwar strides, nearly doubling its routes and mileage in six months. Eleven routes, stretching over 9,225 air miles, are now in operation, compared to six routes and 4,781 air miles on January 1, 1946.

A government survey shows that air transport moved 37,633 passengers along 6,652,200 flying miles during the first six months of this year, compared to 24,090 passengers and 1,023,653 flying miles during all of 1945. As of July 1, 1946, 14 air transport companies, including four currently operating ones, have been registered at the air transport licensing board with an authorized capital of about $82,000,000.

Aerodrome administration and flying control are being taken over by the air forces by civil authorities. The Karachi airport was taken over from the United States Army Air Force in June. It is being reconditioned and reorganized as the major customs airstation of India. Former Royal Indian Air Force and Royal Indian Navy officers are being recruited for administration and control.

About $85,000 worth of U. S. A.A.F. airway radio equipment, installed in India during the war, has been purchased by the India government to supplement the prewar civil aviation network. In the next two years, the government plans to produce 50 new modern communication stations.

Marbletown Legion Officers Are Installed

High Falls, Nov. 23—A very interesting meeting of the Town of Marbletown Post, American Legion, was held Thursday evening, at the Rock Cliff House, High Falls. The proprietor, "Pop" Quick, as he is known throughout the county, turned the hotel over to the Legion and the Auxiliary, an act much appreciated by both organizations.

County Commander Thomas Bohan installed the following officers for the ensuing year: Commander, Ernest S. Jansen; first vice-commander, Arnold Van Laer; second vice-commander, Henry Felsen; third vice-commander, Henry Husted; adjutant, Joseph Greenberg; treasurer, Raymond Krom; sergeant-at-arms, Raymond Williams; historian, Robert Sutton; service officer, Reuben Jansen; welfare officer, Woodrow Smith; athletic officer, George Shea.

The Post colors were used for the first time and caused much favorable comment. About $100 has been collected by the Post for the U.S.O. drive. A committee, consisting of members from each place in the town, was named to arrange future meeting places. Refreshments were enjoyed with the Auxiliary following the meeting.

MT. TREMPER

Mt. Tremper, Nov. 23—Church services are being held at 2:30 at the Reformed Church, the Rev. Harvey Todd pastor.

Mrs. Charles Gustafson and Mrs. Lawrence Keiser were in Poughkeepsie Monday.

A number of local hunters have been lucky in getting a deer. A number of out-of-town people are staying here for the deer hunting.

Mrs. Fred Lagenegger is spending some time with her daughter, Mrs. Richard Lane, in Rosedale, L. I.

Mr. and Mrs. Reese Smith and family recently held a party at Mrs. Rodie's in honor of their sons, Donald and Arthur. Over 50 guests were present and a very delightful evening was spent, with dancing and music. Refreshments were served and there was a large birthday cake in honor of Arthur Smith's birthday. Guests were present from Brewster, Conn., New York city, Willow, Mt. Pleasant and Mt. Tremper.

Miss Louise Smith of New York and Reese Smith, Sr., of Ohio, spent several days at their home here.

Mrs. Norman Wilber has been ill at home for the past two weeks.

Mr. and Mrs. George Byron of Schenectady spent a few days here. George was lucky in getting a buck during the first days of hunting.

The Ladies' Sewing Society of the Reformed Church meet each Wednesday to sew for the annual fair, which is held during the summer.

Mrs. Alex Schoen and children spent Thursday with friends in Kingston.

Health Poster Is Given to Mayor By Scout Snyder

Scout Raymond Snyder of Troop I, Boy Scouts, was the center of attention at city hall yesterday when he called on Mayor William F. Edelmuth and presented him with a poster bearing the message, "Protect Your Home from Tuberculosis."

The poster is one of several being distributed by Boy Scouts throughout the city on behalf of the Ulster County Tuberculosis and Health Association and which will be displayed during the annual Christmas Seal Sale, from November 25 through Christmas.

Designed on the same motif as the 1946 Christmas Seal, the poster features a lamplighter holding a taper to his lamp against a star-studded blue sky.

In accepting the poster, Mayor Edelmuth thanked Scout Snyder for it and said it would be prominently displayed at city hall. He also congratulated the youth for performing this service for the tuberculosis association.

"When you distribute posters and when I buy Christmas Seals," said the mayor, "we are both telling the tuberculosis association we believe in all that it is doing to protect our health and the health of everybody else in this community."

Accidents kill more persons from two to 28 years of age than any single disease.

Seven per cent of the U. S. population is more than 65 years of age.

Farley Finds Unrest But Says World Is Eager for Peace

Honolulu, Nov. 23 (AP)—The world is seething with political unrest but everywhere there is a fervent hope for peace, James A. Farley said on his arrival late last night from a 30,000-mile Pacific-Asiatic tour into 14 countries. He found no sentiment for another war Farley added.

The former chairman of the Democratic National Committee, now an official of Coca-Cola Export Corp., said:

"There is a shortage of food in almost every country and black markets are flourishing. Inflation has hit almost every country. But among the people there is an earnest desire for peace * * *

"I found strikes in all countries.

"I was more depressed by India than any other country. The situation is not good and the people to whom I talked all were disturbed by conflicts.

"I saw no evidence of any sentiment among the people for another war and I do not believe war is imminent."

He will visit friends here over the week-end, then leave for home.

Man Reports Injury

Kenneth Hammond of West Hurley reported to the police Friday afternoon that while he had stopped his DeSoto sedan at Wall street and North Front street for a red signal light, that a truck operated by Earl Ehrle of Monticello had backed into his auto, considerably damaging the front end of the car. Mr. Hammond informed the police he had also suffered a chest injury in the collision.

K.A.A. Plays Away Sunday; 'Y' to Organize Cage Loop Monday

Locals Are Slated To Meet Newburgh In League Contest

Mallanmen Seek Second Straight Victory Over Hilly City Gridders; Kickoff at 2 p. m.

Although the championship of the Hudson Valley Semi-Pro Football League has already been clinched by the Middletown Blue Devils, league action will still run for a couple of more weeks with a few games attracting widespread attention.

Sunday afternoon the Kingston Athletic Association team, still smarting from that 12 to 0 loss at the hands of the Port Jervis Merchants here last Sunday in the final home game, travels to Newburgh to engage the Newburgh Merchants in a regular loop tussle at 2 o'clock.

The K.A.A. club brings down the curtain for the final time next Sunday afternoon, December 1, by meeting the Walden Red Tigers at Walden.

In preparation for tomorrow's contest, Coach Tom Mallan sent his charges through a brisk workout last Thursday night and expressed confidence that his gridders could make it two in a row over the Hilly City squad Sunday. "We beat Newburgh 14 to 7 in the last meeting and I'm sure the boys can do the trick again. Even though we're out of the running for top honors, the team is anxious to make it a .500 season."

In order to accomplish that .500 season average, the K.A.A. will have to come home with a win over Newburgh tomorrow and another one over the Red Tigers next Sunday. The menu sounds heavy but it is possible.

Local fans who remember Kingston's 14 to 7 win over Newburgh also remember with glee the feature of that contest when Jack Ruzzo, former marine ace, galloped 93 yards for a touchdown after a pass interception. Ruzzo will be in uniform for tomorrow's tilt which gives the locals a decided edge to make it two in a row over the Hilly City moleskinners.

Manager Larry Glennon, after watching the K.A.A. workout Thursday also expressed satisfaction with the squad and predicted a close battle for tomorrow's tilt. "We've had a number of tough breaks in this first season of football but we're out to end it triumphantly and I'm sure the boys can repeat over Newburgh."

Pete Marone, former Highland High School star, who missed last week's game with Port Jervis, may be back to play against Newburgh tomorrow. He was at the game Sunday but not in uniform.

Following are the tentative lineups:

Kingston		Newburgh
A. Murphy	LE	Butka
Lemister	LT	Ponessi
Neff	LG	Seralinch
Dowd	C	Olympia
Burger	RG	Maniscalco
Mazzetti	RT	Mack
Gill	RE	Rhodes
Marone	QB	Amato
Grommell	LH	McCurry
Ruzzo	RH	Denton
Bragg	FB	McCormick

Local Women Bowlers Make Debut Tomorrow in Albany

Kaye Sportwair-Sponsored Club Boasts Cream of Crop; Hudson Valley Loop Tilts Slated

Another big week-end of bowling is in store for Kingston Keglers and fans, with the debut of the new female match game team, Kaye Sportswair, headlining the slate.

The Kaye Sportwair squad, sponsored by Lou and Hess Kantrowitz, makes its road debut Sunday at 2 p. m. at Schade's alleys in Albany against the five best bowlers of the capital city.

Rose "670" Schatzel heads the Kingston squad which features Evelyn Moore, Dot Flemings, Betty Boyce, Charlotte Lapine and Marge "621" Jansen.

Viola Morrison, Albany city champion who recently rolled 664, heads the home contingent. Personnel of the Albany squad includes Ruby Hunter, Albany area match game queen; Kay Gemlick, high average leader in Albany; Viola Morrison, 1945-1946 individual champion; Marion Westfall, 1944 champion; Helen Bickel and Billie Scully.

In the Hudson Valley League, Jones Dairy No. 1 current leaders, meet Middletown Luncheonettes Sunday at 3 o'clock at the Central Recs.

An all-local clash is scheduled tonight at 8 o'clock when Van Kleecks, defending champions, engage the Kingston Trailways on alleys 9 and 10.

Sunday afternoon Jones Dairy No. 2 travels to Newburgh for a crack at the streaking Newburgh Hangar Grills. With Wally Gerken in high gear, the Grills have won nine in a row and are tied for third place, three games behind Jones Dairy No. 1.

Bowling

Scores must be received downtown by The Freeman by 9 a. m. following the day matches are rolled. The score sheets must be in legible form with names properly spelled and with correct totals. The Freeman reserves the right to withhold publication of all scores, including special matches and seasonal averages.

Nocando League

C. Beatty and Ray Otto divided the limelight in the Nocando League matches Thursday night at the Central Rec alleys with a resounding triple of 594 and single of 234. Beatty peeled off a string of 199, 213 and 182 for his top triple of 594 while Otto, heading the loop with his high 234, also whipped out with a 128 and 156 for a 518 series.

In the matches Shultis Radio's took two from Frederick's Coal, Schryver Lumber captured all three from Chez Emile, Rudolphs made a clean sweep from Forsts and Howe's Office Supplies won a pair from Scholl's Meat Market.

Other notable efforts for the evening were: Jimmy Magnino 223—577, Al Kurdt 227-570, L. Ferguson 201—539, F. Norman 192—535, S. Tunrck 190—535, Percy Slover 196—530, C. Turck 180—525 and Paul Trodler 203—504.

In The Pocket with CHARLIE TIANO

Female bowling in Kingston attained an all-time high for scoring efficiency this week and, as you might suspect, Rose Schatzel overshadowed the field in the usual manner.

Mrs. Schatzel had to be good to grab the headlines away from petite Marge Jansen. You know a 600 series by a woman bowler is still big news in Kingston, New York or Kokomo. Rose blasted a tremendous 670 series in the Colonial Women's League, three nights after Mrs. Jansen had uncorked 621 in the Central Mixed circuit.

A 600 series by Mrs. Schatzel doesn't come under the heading of startling developments but Marge's 621 was big news. It featured a week in which she accounted for three successive 500 or better series and definitely established her as one of the Big Five for the season.

Mrs. Schatzel's 670 was just four pins under her all-time mark of 674. Mrs. Jansen's 621 marked the first time she had entered the charmed circle. Rose shattered the maples for a string of 225-235-210, while Marge posted 176-200-245.

The new name for Kingston's all-star array of feminine skittling perfection is Kaye Sportswair. Lou and Hess Kantrowitz, who have sponsored bowling, football and basketball teams in the past, are the sponsors.

Personnel of the squad includes Rose Schatzel, Evelyn Moore, Dot Flemmings, Marge Jansen, Charlotte Lapine and Betty Boyce. The female sharpers make their road debut Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock at Schade's alleys in Albany, against an all-star capital city squad selected by Bob Chalmers, bowling editor of the Times-Union.

These stars will give Kingston first class representation on the alleys. A composite of the scores they shot this week night would have amounted to 2924 pins. They will meet the best competition available in New York state. We're happy to welcome Lou and Hess Kantrowitz back into match game bowling in Kingston.

THE HUDSON VALLEY WHEEL: Jones Dairy has moved out in front by a single game over the Middletown Eagles. . . . Stagg feared Purdue but we'll take the Newburgh Hangar Grill. . . . Wally Gerken and Wilmer "Red" McQuiston are red hot and the Newburghers have won 9 straight. . . . Gerken and McQuiston shooting over 195. . . . Johnny Ferraro paces league with 202. . . . Throat-cutting affair Saturday night on 9 and 10 at the Recs, Trailways vs. Van Kleecks. . . . Jones No. 2 attempts to solve the Hangar Grill problem Sunday 3 p. m. in Newburgh, while No. 1 entertains Middletown Gus-Luncheonette here.

FLOTSAM AND JETSAM

Frank "Boots" Leskie, one time colorful shortstop of City Baseball League annals, the Golden Boy of the week. . . . "Boots" powdered the maples for 661 on 234-221-206. . . . The man who is always called by his last name, Harold Broskie, smoking like a ten cent pistol. . . . Ed Cunningham, another good series 225-579. . . . Percy Slover, who hit a long ball in his baseball days, continues his steady improvement as a kegler. . . . 186-226-208 Sunday night in the Mixed loop.

Ad "Sponsor" Jones the big noise on the Y drives last week —192, 230-229. . . . His No. 1 keglers hope the sponsor remembers how it's done come Sunday. . . . Johnny Ferraro followed his 703 with a 654 blast in the mixed circuit. . . . Ben Sklon [illegible] matches for a 775-average squad. . . .

OF MEN AND MICE: Ward DuBois 610 and Roland Post 606 in the Indie loop. . . . The Colonials murdered Jones Dairy in their Monday night "crooshal". . . . Clifton Quick and Broskie toppled big 600 series. . . . Why all the commotion about the Colonials! . . . The Livingstons are breathing on their necks and they square off Monday night at Immanuels. . . . What heat! Gus "757" Weidemann, Clary and Art Buddenhagen, Scott Vining and Vernon Freeze carrying the Livingston banner. . . .

HEARTBREAK DEPARTMENT: Our favorite performer, Gracie Sabo, has been rendered hors de combat by a leg injury. On the threshold of a big season, too. . . . Evelyn Francis, a definite prospect, has replaced Gracie in the Evergreen lineup. . . . Arthur G. Carr, a sharpshooter in the "get-your-spares, the-strikes-will-take-care of-themselves-era" rolling open games with the Rev. Wesley Williams, a pretty fair trundler.

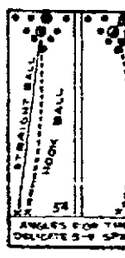

A NEW STAR: We'd like to introduce a new bowling broadcaster. His name—Al Cirillo, currently the tenpin columnist for the New York Enquirer. His program can be heard twice weekly, 6:45 p. m., Mondays and Thursdays, over station WBYN, 1430 on your dial. . . . We consider Al one of the nation's greatest bowling authorities—in the exclusive group with Mort Luby, Billy Sixty and Harold George. . . . Cirillo has been in Kingston several times in the past with Joe Falcaro, Andy Varipapa, Graz Castellano and Tillie Taylor. . . . From Park avenue to the most squalid alleys, Cirillo knows New York bowling and its characters, sharpies and personalities better than anybody else. His trademark is showmanship and we know he will be a huge success.

TODAY'S BULLETIN — Officials of a business machine company today announced the development of a revolutionary new computing machine by Arthur Shelightner, of The Freeman Bowling League. . . . Although details are lacking, Shelightner's mathematical robot is said to insure all tie games in bowling regardless of the amount of handicap either side receives. Mr. Shelightner modestly refused to comment. The contraption will be on display Monday night at the Y alleys.

The surest thing in sports today—the Mayorettes of the Emerick Ladies' League. Ah yes, 33 in a row now!

Better Bowling

By BILLY SIXTY

BROOKLYN SPARE: When a ball crosses to the left side of the head pin to the Brooklyn side, it is called—the Nos. 5 and 9 pins invariably remain standing. In the case of a left-handed bowler, a cross-over hit leaves the Nos. 5 and 8.

Like the Nos. 2-5 spare, the 5-9 offers big chance of chopping off the front pin, and it is necessary therefore to develop a payoff angle to clean up both pins.

As the illustration shows, the spare may be played from two entirely different positions—the normal (right-handed) ball from the regular "strike" angle, or the change of stance and direction from the left hand side of the alley.

Which angle to adopt depends on how sound the individual's footwork is from the left-side position. It depends also on the type of delivery—whether it is a slow, wide breaking hook ball, a straight ball, or a reverse.

A bowler with secure footwork will do best from the left of the alley because the narrower gap between the pins from that angle minimizes the chance of a "chop." As little hook spin as possible should be given the ball to avoid a quick, chop break near the pins. Added speed will straighten out the ball.

Shooting from the normal or right side position, as the illustration shows, opens the gap between the pins and therefore offers greater chance for a chop. From that angle speed isn't a factor at all. It's just a plain case of accuracy, whatever the delivery—hook, straight ball or reverse.

Meeting to Open 7 P. M., Schafer Has Slated Movie

Team Managers Invited to Attend Gala Parley; Basketball Picture Is Scheduled for 8 p. m.

A gala organizational meeting of the Y.M.C.A. Basketball League has been planned by Lou Schafer, "Y" physical director, for Monday evening starting at 7 o'clock at which time final preparations for the coming season will be discussed.

The eight teams which have been playing in the "Y" conditioning league have all signified intentions of entering the regular winter loop and prospects for one of the best seasons yet is in view. "We're trying to make this a banner year for basketball players of the Y.M.C.A.", Schafer said this morning "and Monday's big meeting should serve as a good start."

In addition to the eight clubs which have been playing in the league for the past few weeks, two or three additional teams are contemplating joining the circuit. All managers of teams already entered and those tentatively set to enter, are urgently requested to be on hand for Monday's pre-season parley.

All team managers are requested by Schafer to bring a list of their players to the meeting so that the lists can be checked so as to avoid duplication of players. Teams that do not have a representative at the meeting cannot expect to have representation in the circuit, Mr. Schafer commented.

Movies Are Scheduled

In addition to the program which has already been planned for Monday's organizational session, Lou Schafer has arranged to have a special basketball movie shown in the youth center gymnasium which will start at 8 o'clock.

The "Y" physical boss was all excited about Monday's movie when conferring with a Freeman writer at the municipal auditorium Thursday night. "This movie is sure to make a big hit with the fans and players alike," Lou commented. "It gives out with a lot of wonderful information which some players are unfamiliar with."

The movie entitled "Basketball Today," concerns the illegal players of the game and the entire picture is well narrated. It is considered to be the most educational basketball picture ever filmed. Parts of the picture are taken from teams playing in the mid-west college conferences.

Besides the film, Mr. Schafer has arranged to have Charlie Just and John Barbariaz, two Mid-Hudson Certified Central Board Officials, at Monday's meeting and they will follow the movie with the 1946-47 rules intepretation and the answering of all basketball questions.

Although Monday's movie cannot be open to the general public due to the limited seating capacity, enough of the outside fandom will be taken care of as possible, Lou Schafer said. All interested are asked to contact him at the "Y" for further details. Monday's movie and question bee to follow are primarily scheduled for league players of the "Y," the Kingston High School and Saugerties High School basketball teams.

Church Cage Loop To Begin Practices Monday Evening

Friday's Drawings Place Six Teams in National, American Leagues; Drills at M.J.M.

At a drawing Friday under the supervision of Coach G. Warren Kias at Kingston High School, the Senior Sunday School Basketball League was formulated with six teams in the American League and six in the National League.

The loop clubs are: American League—St. Joseph's A. Z. A., St. Peter's, Port Ewen Reformed, Salvation Army and the First Dutch. In the National division are the Fair Street Reformed, Immaculate Conception, St. Mary's Trinity Lutheran, Immanuel Lutheran and Redeemer Lutheran.

Practices Scheduled

Harry Edson, acting superintendent of the recreation department, announced this morning that practice sessions for each team in both divisions will begin Monday, November 25 under the following schedule:

Nov. 25—St. Joseph's and A. Z. A. at the M.J.M. gym starting at 7 o'clock for both clubs.

Nov. 25—St. Peter's and Port Ewen Reformed at M.J.M. gym beginning at 8:15 o'clock.

Nov. 26—Salvation Army and First Dutch at the M.J.M. gym starting at 7 o'clock.

Nov. 26—Fair Street Reformed and Immaculate Conception at M.J.M. starting at 8:15 o'clock.

Nov. 27—St. Mary's and Trinity Lutheran at M.J.M. starting at 7 o'clock.

Nov. 27—Immanuel Lutheran and Redeemer Lutheran at M.J.M. beginning at 8:15 o'clock.

Mr. Edson also announced today that the schedule for the [illegible] games will be published [illegible] week.

Nine Lions, Two Tigers 'Enjoy' Big Fight at Peoria

Trainer Tells of His Harrowing Defense With Chair and Stick

Peoria, Ill., Nov. 23 (AP)—A cage full of roaring, clawing animals—nine lions and two tigers—ignoring their veteran trainer, engaged in a free-for all five minute fight yesterday.

The beasts battled until exhausted and when trainer Dick Clemens, who had only a chair and a stick to defend himself, restored order, two of the lions were dead.

Clemens, soaking wet from what he described the most harrowing experience in 20 years of training animals, escaped without a scratch.

"I've never seen such a fight in 20 years of animal training," said Clemens, who is about 47. "They were all in it. I was in the middle and I was scared. The young lions (four two-year olds) on one side of me and the old ones and Tigers on the other.

Then all hell broke loose.

"But they weren't after me. They were as intent on each other as if they were all after a piece of meat."

Clemens brought in the young lions from the Evansville, Ind., zoo yesterday and they were being "introduced" to five old lions, including the father and mother of the four, and two tigers.

As Clemens prepared to put the animals through their acts in the 30-foot locked steel cage one of the old lions struck at a tiger. The tiger poked back and the fight was on. The young lions, frightened, tried to escape through a chute but they couldn't get out.

"They moved so fast my eye couldn't follow them," Clemens related in explaining how he attempted to halt the battle.

Two of the young lions died, one suffering a broken neck and back, while a second was so badly mauled it was shot.

Five minutes after the fight started Clemens said the tigers were back on their shelves and seven of the lions back on their seats.

All of them, he said, "still are pretty jumpy."

Prescribes Alcohol For Smokers Who Have Heart Ails

Memphis, Tenn., Nov. 23 (AP)—A heart specialist prescribes alcoholic drinks for persons addicted to the use of tobacco if they suffer from diseases of the heart.

Dr. William D. Stroud, professor of cardiology at the Graduate School of Medicine, University of Pennsylvania, uttered his prescription yesterday before the mid-south regional meeting of the American College of Physicians.

"Tobacco has a bad effect on heart disease," the doctor said, "if the person is sensitive to nicotine. The best antidote is alcohol, which dilates the arteries. We believe that it dilates the little blood vessels that supply the heart muscle with blood."

Dr. Stroud said he envisaged a smoker with heart disease "going through life with a cigar in one hand a highball in the other—although I'm sure the Women's Christian Temperance Union won't agree."

"I don't mean to get plastered all the time," added the doctor. "Of course you have to take your conscience into consideration."

$65,000,000 War Plant Disposal in State

Twenty-two war plants in the New York area, acquired by the government at a reported cost of more than $65,000,000, are being offered for sale or lease. War Assets Administration during a three-month period ending January 31, 1947, Frank L. Seymour, Regional Director, announced today.

Seymour indicated special consideration will be accorded small businesses seeking to acquire the property and credit terms may be arranged. Specific data may be obtained from the W.A.A. Regional Office of Real Property Disposal, 67 Broad street, New York city, directed by David Duggan, or the Washington, D. C. W.A.A. Office of Real Property.

Among the plants offered is the $5,060,000 twenty-six acre plant in Johnson City, operated during the war by Remington Rand, Inc., for production of airplane propellers. No production machinery is currently installed in the factory building, but it is equipped with a mono-rail and gravity distributing systems and electrically operated hoists.

An annex to the plant contains office, cafeteria and locker space occupying about 96,000 square feet. Both buildings are heated by low pressure steam boiler and ventilation and radiation systems are installed. The cafeteria section is stocked with all essential items for operation. The site is serviced by the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western Railroad.

[illegible] Johnson City plant will be on a sealed bid basis. All proposals must be received at the W.A.A. Office of Real Property Disposal at 67 Broad street, New York city not later than 3 p. m., December 16.

Among the other plants being offered are the Alcoa plant in Maspeth, Long Island; the N. Y. Ordnance works at Baldwinsville; the Alcoa plant at Messena; the Eastman Kodak site at Rochester and the Curtis Wright Plant.

Nation-wide, to date, a total of approximately $3,500,000,000 worth of real property has been declared surplus and assigned to the War Assets Administration, of which $2,100,000,000 worth has been disposed. Additional declarations are expected from time to time.

Hempstead Man Elected Presbyterian Treasurer

Philadelphia, Nov. 23 (AP)—Dr. Alva Lasko of Hempstead, L. I., was elected treasurer of the Board of National Missions of the Presbyterian Church in the U. S. A. at the executive session yesterday.

He succeeds Dr. C. N. Wanacott, of New York, treasurer for the past 16 year who will relinquish his duties on April 1. Dr. Wanacott will remain with the Board as a special adviser.

House Committee To Survey Reports Of Red Activities

Washington, Nov. 23 (AP)—The House Committee on un-American activities docketed for the next Congress today the follow-through on charges that Soviet Secret Police are active in the United States.

Also left for the January session was the decision on a request by Rep. Rankin (D-Miss), a committee member, for contempt action against Dr. Harlow Shapley of the Harvard faculty. Rankin complained Shapley declined to answer questions at a closed-door session last week concerning organizations active in the November 5 elections.

The committee adjourned soon after hearing a former Communist leader express the opinion Russia is waging a "war of nerves" against the United States. Members indicated the witness, Louis F. Budenz, will be recalled later for further questioning.

Particularly, committee members said they want to know more about "Communist Front" groups in this country and about the activities of the secret police.

Budenz, for ten years a Communist and former editor of the Daily Worker, official Communist publication, told the committee yesterday he would assemble detailed information on both subjects for his next appearance. He renounced Communism and rejoined the Catholic Church last year and now is an economics teacher at Fordham University.

Budenz said he felt certain Communist leaders in this country would side with Russia against the United States in the event of war.

He identified "Hans Berger, or Gerhard Eisler"—an anti-Fascist German refugee now in this country—as "the equivalent of the representative of the Communist International" in the United States. He said Eisler, under subpoena to testify later, "is the chief communications officer" and "brings the line of the party."

Enlisted Men Get Chance to Pass on Candidates' Bids

Washington, Nov. 23 (AP)—Enlisted men will have a voice on the merits of other GI's who want commissions under a new system for choosing officer candidates, the War Department announced today.

The department predicted the revised procedure, more exacting than the wartime method, will "guarantee" that the best qualified men become officers.

The new [illegible] scoring qualifications is aimed at assuring that future military leaders are chosen more for "intelligence and officer-like qualities" than for formal education. It is effective Feb 1.

Candidates must be between 19 and 31, and have six weeks or more service after basic training.

Board Chooses Pansies So Scherer Keeps Job

Long Beach, Calif., Nov. 23 (AP)—Pansies or even onions—it's all the same now to Miss Myrtelle Gunsul, city auditor, who lost out yesterday in her insistence that geraniums be planted on the city hall lawn.

Park Superintendent Herman Scherer was just as adamant for pansies.

He said they were prettier than geraniums. Held resign, he said, if it had to be geraniums, which Miss Gunsul said were cheaper, being perennials.

The park board decided on pansies, refusing to accept Scherer's resignation.

U. S. Gets Delay on U. N. Discussion on World Troops

Private Consultations Are Planned to Place British and Russian Views at Point of Reconciliation on Two Issues

Lake Success, N. Y., Nov. 23 (AP)—The United States obtained a 48-hour postponement today of United Nations discussion on world troop inventory and disarmament proposals in an attempt through private consultations to reconcile British and Russian views on the two issues.

The American move caught delegates by surprise, creating obvious disappointment within the British delegation since Britain felt she had been assured of U. S. support against a Russian proposal to discuss the two issues separately.

Authoritative sources said the United States requested and obtained postponement of today's session of the 54-member U. N. Political Committee late last night.

It was learned that the private talks, which are expected to be started late today, would not be held at top level such as Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov and British Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin, but probably with Andrei Gromyko and Philip Noel-Baker, permanent U.N. delegate of Russia and Britain, respectively.

This development came after Molotov rejected a British proposal to combine the troop census with discussion of Russia's four point arms limitation plan.

British Are 'Amazed'

British representatives received word of the postponement with what one source described as "utter amazement," while other sources did not deny that it came as a shock to them. They said they thought the United States was prepared to support the British view and carry through to a committee vote on the question.

The British said they would continue to insist that the troop census and disarment issues be discussed jointly.

The Russians, as Molotov explained yesterday, see no reason why a report should be made on troops at home although they would not object if the United States insisted on it. However, Molotov said the report on home troops should be made when the question of disarament comes up. But, he said, Russia wanted the question of troops abroad settled now.

Sen. Tom Connally (D-Tex) told newsmen yesterday after Molotov spoke that "the United States has no hesitancy in revealing complete information on its armed forces wherever they may be stationed, whether abroad or at home."

Charge of 'Weakening' Made

Moscow, Nov. 23 (AP)—Izvestia's New York correspondent charged today that United States and British delegates to the United Nations general assembly had sought through statements to the press [illegible] the effect of speeches of Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov and his deputy Andrei Vishinsky.

"Seeing that the initiative in raising the most important issues belongs to the Soviet delegates," he reported in a dispatch boldly played in the Russian government newspaper, "representatives of the U. S. A. and Britain have more than once resorted to back-alley tactics.

"After speeches of the Soviet delegates, they have hurried into the corridors of the assembly to make their own statements to press representatives, * * * statements having the purpose of weakening the impression evoked by the speech of Molotov or Vishinsky. This already has become traditional tactics with the British and American delegations, but it must be admitted these tactics are producing no effect."

The correspondent, whose article was headed "in the vanguard of the struggle for peace," said he had observed that proposals of the Soviet delegation "stand in the very center" of public attention and that "even the American press is emphasizing that the initiative of raising questions belongs to the Soviet delegation."

"On the streets of New York," he wrote, "I more than once heard conversations of 'average Americans' sympathetically discussing the proposals of the Soviet delegates."

The writer described as "sharp and unrestrained" a speech of Sen. Tom Connally (D-Tex) after Molotov's proposal for reports on armed forces maintained by nations in foreign territory and said corridor talk was that "Connally evidently forgot he was not speaking in the senate."

Senator Robertson Of Virginia Is Expert on Taxes

By CARTER LOWANCE

Richmond, Va., Nov. 23 (AP)—Absalom Willis Robertson, Virginia's new junior senator, is a graying, ruddy, 59-year-old outdoor enthusiast who has been prominently identified with Old Dominion political affairs for 30 years.

The last 14 he has spent in the House of Representatives as Congressman from the Seventh District. He achieved a reputation as a tax expert by his service in helping draft tax legislation as a member of the ways and means committee.

Robertson is a former chairman of the Virginia Commission of Game and Inland Fisheries and was a champion in the House of game conservation legislation as chairman of its wild life committee. He was co-author of the Pittman-Robertson Game Conservation Act and sponsored many other pieces of legislation pertaining to game and wildlife.

Although he had stated on several occasions he was not a candidate, Robertson was nominated by acclamation by the state Democratic convention last September as the party's choice to serve out the unexpired term of the late Senator Carter Glass, which runs through 1948.

Shortly after his nomination he told a Farmer's Day audience at Charlottesville, Va., that President Truman had "offered to protect my future by giving me an appointment to a Federal Court that carried a lifetime salary of $17,500 a year."

The offer, he said, was to induce him to return to the House to assist in its reorganization and in recognition of his support of the President's foreign policies.

Senator Robertson, who served in the army in World War 1, lives at Lexington, home of Virginia Military Institute. He serves as a member of its board of visitors. He received his law degree from the University of Richmond, which also awarded him the honorary LL.D. degree. He is a Phi Beta Kappa and a member of Omicron Delta Kappa.

His public career began with election to the state senate in 1916. After six years in that office he served six more as Rockbridge county commonwealth's attorney, and then from 1928 to 1932 as State Game Commission chairman.

His family includes his wife, the former Gladys C. Willis, and two sons, A. Willis Robertson, Jr., and Marion Gordon Robertson.

In the November 6 election, Senator Robertson polled approximately 165,000 votes in outdistancing Republican and Socialist opponents by better than two to one.

Army Remnants Will Be Sold at Upton Monday

New York, Nov. 23 (AP)—Remnants of army equipment at Camp Upton on Long Island, where thousands of recruits in two World Wars got their first taste of life in khaki, will be sold by the War Assets Administration here Monday.

Sealed bids will be opened in the W.A.A. offices at that time for items from billiard balls to mousetraps.

The agency also announced that on December 5 it would conduct the first of a series of sales designed to dispose of $500,000 worth of equipment at Camp Shanks, Orangeburg, N. Y., a staging area which shipped more than 1,000,000 men to overseas theatres in the recent war.

There are 14,000 individual pieces in a light war tank.

Caraway Murder Trial Will Be Resumed Monday

Mineola, N. Y., Nov. 23 (AP)—The first degree murder trial of Ward Beecher Caraway, 23-year-old Negro chauffeur-butler, will be resumed Monday.

A week-end recess was granted yesterday after a fifth juror, Arthur R. Parker, Jr., an employe of the New York Telephone Co., had been selected.

Other veniremen chosen yesterday were Ernest Glueck, an insurance broker; Thomas R. Whittard, father of four children and a clerk for the New York City Board of Transportation, and Herbert C. Ray. The first juror was chosen Thursday.

Caraway, a native of Charlotte, N. C., is under indictment on a charge of fatally shooting Mrs. Marjory Church Logan, 52-year-old society matron, last July 24 after demanding money. The slaying occurred in the Logan home near Plandome on Long Island's fashionable North Shore.

Army Air Force Seeks Address Former Members

The Army Air Force is requesting that two and one-half million former members of the organization fill out their names and present addresses on one of the postcards being distributed here for that purpose. Tht cards will be used to obtain the latest addresses of former A.A.F. personnel, to facilitate contacting them, according to General Carl A. Spaatz, A.A.F. commander. Cards may be obtained here at Post offices, banks, drug stores and theatre lobbies.

The Civil Air Patrol, an auxiliary of the Army Air Force, is effecting the distribution of the cards with the aid of the Boy Scouts of America.
